MEXICO STANDS ON AGRARIAN LAW, DECLARES CALLES

President Denies Policy Will Be Changed Because of Recent Statement of Kellogg.

AMERICAN ENVOY TO RETURN TO MEXICO

Kellogg's Statement Not Due to Delayed Settlement of Claims, but to Agrarian Forays.

MEXICO CITY, June 17.—President Calles, in a statement, said that Mexico would not modify her agrarian policies. The statement was issued to deny reports that Mexico intended to change these policies because of the recent statement of Secretary of State Kellogg.

"Modification of our agrarian policy," said the statement issued last night, "would imply repudiation of principles heretofore stated, as well as treason to their supporters. The government's agrarian policy is sanctioned by law, and, besides, it satisfies the people's aspirations."

Foreign Secretary Saenz denied reports from the United States that the declaration of Secretary of State Kellogg with regard to Mexico was due to a conflict to Mexican and James R. Sheffield, the United States Ambassador to Mexico.

Saenz asserted that relations between Sheffield and himself always had been cordial. This was shown, he added, by repeated invitations Sheffield had made for him to visit Washington.

Congratulating President Calles upon his forceful statement in reply to that issued by Kellogg, former President Obregon is quoted as saying:

"Behind Secretary Kellogg's declaration I have been unable to find a shadow of the American people in another quite different."

By CHARLES MICHELSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Secretary of State Kellogg announced yesterday that Ambassador Sheffield would return to Mexico by the end of the current month. It can hardly be that soon as Sheffield is here for his health, which suggests a longer stay. But Kellogg's announcement of his early resumption of his duties indicates that the implied threat, in Kellogg's statement, of withdrawing support from the Calles administration is not to be carried out in the immediate future.

President Calles' reply, in which he practically said that he felt called on to "rectify Kellogg's statements in the interest of justice and truth," carried with it the implied accusation that the American Ambassador had misrepresented conditions in Mexico. This and the more direct arraignment of Sheffield, because of the statement that he had taken up the cause of foreigners, other than of his own countrymen, suggested that the Ambassador would no longer be a welcome representative.

The State Department neither will tell what the next step will be nor specify the incidents that gave rise to the Kellogg statement.

Kellogg's Course Questioned.

There is a disposition outside of executive circles to question the wisdom of Kellogg's course, and it has even been suggested that the treatment of the situation has made it serious where before it was only annoying.

The theory is that Ambassador Sheffield, being able to get no satisfaction to the hundreds of petitions he had sent in because of recent deprivations on American property, felt the need to have some demonstration that his government was behind him, and so the announcement through the newspapers was made.

The row was not over the delayed resumption of the American claims growing out of past revolutionary disturbances, as was implied in Calles' answer, but to the continuing slanders by the agrarians, who are enjoying the prosperous farms and ranches.

These slanders are supposed to be compensated with bonds of the state which have authorized the communicable land program, but the bonds have not even been printed. Mexico's past record in settling claims does not make the indemnity seem very convincing.

It would appear that the sudden

Stewart Edward White Attacked by Leopard

Writer, on Hunting Trip, Shot Arrow at Animal, Which Then Bit Him in Arm and Shoulder.

Special Cable to Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, June 17.—Stewart Edward White, American writer and sportsman, while hunting with bow and arrow near Lake Tanganyika, suffered severe injuries, when a leopard at which he had loosed a shaft, sprang upon him.

The animal bit him severely on the arm and shoulder and clawed him badly, then sprang upon a native gunbearer and badly wounded him before it was killed by the guns of others of the party. The incident has put an end to the hunt.

White, although painfully hurt, was able to return to Nairobi. Members of the party report that despite their misadventure they had good sport. They bagged six lions, which they first shot with their steel-tipped arrows, although in several cases the animals charged and had to be finished with guns.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Stewart Edward White left New York March 7 to hunt in the wilds of Africa with bow and arrow. With him were Dr. T. Saxton Pope of the University of California, and Dr. Arthur H. Young, motion picture director.

Both Pope and Dr. Young are expert archers. White had had little experience with the bow and arrow. The bows were five and one-half feet long and had a pull of nearly 100 pounds. The arrows had steel tips three inches long.

GUNS BOOM FAREWELL AS MACMILLAN SAILS

Explorer and Party Off for Polar Regions—Will Stop at Wiscasset, Me.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, June 17.—The Arctic expedition of Lieutenant-Commander Donald B. MacMillan sailed from the navy yard at Charlestown shortly after noon today in the steamer Peary, bound for Wiscasset, Me. From Wiscasset, the Peary and the schooner Bowdoin will sail on MacMillan's ninth voyage into the North.

The big guns on the navy craft thundered farewell as the little steamer slipped away on the first leg of the trip beyond the Arctic Circle. A navy band on the pier played "Auld Lang Syne." The crowd which had crammed its way into the navy yard cheered. The harbor echoed with the shrieks of marine whistles as craft at anchor joined in the parting tribute.

Overhead, as the Peary passed on its way out to sea, a dozen hydro-aeroplanes circled.

MacMillan, in outlining the objects of his expedition, just before the Peary sailed, asserted that if Amundsen, Norwegian Arctic explorer, had not been found when the American expedition reached Etah, Greenland, he would undertake his rescue.

His departure, a part of Boston's celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, was preceded by ceremonies, including speeches by Theodore D. Robinson, assistant Secretary of the Navy; United States Senators Butler and Gillett, Governor Fuller and Mayor Curley.

The three amphibian planes which will be used on the Polar flight were stored on the rear deck of the Peary.

The Peary is expected to reach Wiscasset in 12 hours. There she will be joined by the Bowdoin, the second ship of the expedition. Both will sail from Wiscasset for northern waters on Saturday.

MacMillan, abandoning at the last minute a plan to fly to Wiscasset, accompanied the Peary about two miles out and then returned by tug to travel overland to the Maine town.

LA FOLLETTE'S ILLNESS CAUSE OF CONCERN

Condition of Senator Somewhat More Serious, but Recovery Is Expected.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Increased concern over the condition of Senator La Follette, who is fighting a severe cold with complications at his home here, was apparent today among those in attendance.

A statement issued at his office expressed hope for recovery, but said his condition had become somewhat more serious. Members of the family declined to add to the announcement, but it was understood that after a turn for the better he had taken to his bed again and had found considerable difficulty in breathing due to development of bronchial asthma.

The statement from his office said:

"Senator La Follette's physician stated today that although his condition was somewhat more serious than before, he was now at a stage holding his own and that there was every hope of his ultimate recovery."

LOAN FIRM LOSES $25,000 IN BUGUS AUTO MORTGAGES

John H. Green, Former Secretary of Remedial Company, Arrested on Fraud Indictment.

INVOLVES DEFUNCT MOTOR CAR CONCERN

Accused Man Denies He Was Ever Officially Connected With the North Side Nash Co.

Mortgages on automobiles which were never sold, and executed in the names of purchasers who never existed, caused a loss of about $25,000 to the Remedial System of Loaning, Inc., and led to the arrest of the Remedial's former secretary, John H. Green, early today.

Green, who is 34 years old, was arrested at 12:30 a. m. at his home, 425 Athlete avenue, following his indictment yesterday on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. He was released on $5000 bond.

The North Side Nash Automobile Co., whose establishment at 2724 North Grand boulevard was closed in January, was the source of the spurious mortgages, according to the information on which Green was indicted.

Denies Official Connection.

The Circuit Attorney's office was informed that Green, while secretary of the Remedial System, was also secretary of the North Side Nash Co. Green today denied that he was ever officially connected with the Nash company. The 1924 Red-Blue Book, in its corporation list, and the 1924 City Directory, show J. H. Green as secretary of the North Side Nash Co.

Mortgages on automobiles furnished one of the avenues of investment of the Remedial System. After it had discounted a number of such mortgages for the North Side Nash Co., Green was notified by an insurance company that it wished to call a number of loans. This caused an investigation of the collateral, and it was found that the Nash mortgages represented no real obligation.

When this inquiry was pressed at the Nash company office, the officers of that company turned the key in the door and went out of business.

Result of Inquiry.

Investigation of the mortgages, the Circuit Attorney's office is informed, has shown that some were executed in the names of employees of the North Side Nash Co., and that some were apparently fictitious, but that none of them represented the actual sale of an automobile.

The employees are said to have been told that the cars were on the way to the St. Louis plant, and were to be used for demonstration purposes, and that their signature was a matter of formality. The purported mortgages discounted by the Remedial System amounted to about $25,000.

Con P. Curran, president of the Remedial, made the complaint on which the grand jury acted, after an investigation of the matter was conducted by the Circuit Attorney's office.

Green, at his home today, said:

"I am the fat guy for a lot of bad paper, which was accepted by the board of directors of the Remedial System, consisting of 10 men."

"I was with the Remedial as a clerk when it was formed in 1918, and I invested in the company and brought in new business, until I became secretary and a director. It is not true that I was officially connected with the North Side Nash Co., or that I had any drawing account with that company."

MAYOR SUGGESTS CITY DO PAVING IF BIDS ARE TOO HIGH

Favors Using Fund Raised by Half-Cent Gasoline Tax to Help Equip City to Do Its Own Work.

OFFERS PLAN AS LAST RECOURSE

His Letter to Board of Public Service Outlines Program to Reduce Costs of Construction.

Mayor Miller, in a letter sent today to the Board of Public Service, suggested a program for reducing costs of street paving, on which work, he said, some $15,000,000 is to be expended in the next three or four years.

He declared that, as a last recourse if other plans fail, the city should undertake paving itself. He further suggested that the funds collected from the city gasoline tax of 1/2 cent a gallon should be used in equipping the city to undertake the work. The municipal gasoline tax is levied for street improvement. For the last fiscal year it yielded $322,420.

The Mayor's suggestions, in part, cover action already taken by the Board of Public Service. The board announced a few days ago that it will hereafter estimate the cost of paving work in advance, and will reject any and all bids which largely exceed the estimate.

Text of Mayor's Letter.

In his letter to the board, the Mayor said:

"The municipal administration has been advised on account of the condition of the streets in St. Louis. Property owners and taxpayers in general have also complained of the excessive cost of street paving. These conditions are a grave matter, and need to be investigated. Except in a few instances, the cost of street paving must be borne by property owners. They are in a great measure helpless to protect themselves from excessive cost of paving and inferior workmanship.

"Taxes, both general and special, have mounted to such an extent that they have become oppressive, and we must immediately take such steps as will reduce the oppressive burden that is now on our taxpayers.

"During the next three or four years contracts for street paving will be let which will cost the taxpayers approximately $15,000,000. In the past it has been the custom of many municipal contractors to make political contributions to all candidates in order that, no matter what the result of the election, they would have an entrance to the good graces of the successful candidate. From an investigation, I believe that this custom was followed to some extent by the recent election. If any contribution was made to the campaign fund and expended for the election of this administration, it was not made with any secret understanding on my part; nor did I immediately withdraw any pre-election deals or promises relating to contracts.

"To Protect Taxpayers.

"This administration is desirous of having contractors make a legitimate, fair and honest profit on their work. The administration, however, is the protector of the people and the taxpayers, and the administration owes it to the taxpayers to use every means within its power to see that they get 100 cents worth of value for each dollar expended.

"I believe that the charter gives the Board of Public Service sufficient authority and latitude to absolutely protect the taxpayer. Therefore I want to offer some suggestions to you for your consideration. These are merely suggestions to be followed out if your board, after mature thought and deliberate consideration, concludes that they will reduce the cost of paving and at the same time follow the principles contained in the platform upon which this administration was elected.

"First: I suggest that you secure all available information relative to the cost of the different kinds of paving, and all other costs, including depreciation on material, equipment, insurance, contingencies, etc. It might be well for the different paving contractors to submit to you their cost sheets.

"Second: From this information, and such other information and knowledge as you have determine what is a fair and reasonable price for all classes of paving.

"Third: No contract should be let for an amount in excess of your estimate.

Record of Contractors.

"Fourth: You should, from your records and investigations, deter-

Principals in Los Angeles Murder These Photographs Came 2200 Miles by Wire

SEEKS TO LINK YOUNG WITH OTHER DEATHS

Official Traces Cases of Two Women Accusances of Dentist.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—Evidence to fasten a charge of first-degree murder upon Dr. Thomas Young, Los Angeles dentist, who has confessed that he killed his wife, Grace Grogan Young, with lethal gas and concealed the body in the false bottom of a cistern, was the object of a search by representatives of the District Attorney's office today.

Young has insisted that he killed his wife, who was the widow of Patrick Grogan, olive oil millionaire, because she slapped him during a quarrel in a cafe and broke his glasses. The officials who have investigated the case are convinced the killing was a deliberately planned murder. Young was indicted for murder yesterday and his arraignment set for Friday.

Extracts from an eight-page memorandum, said to be in the handwriting of the slain woman, made public last night by the District Attorney, indicated Mrs. Young anticipated the fate which finally overtook her. The memorandum, dated Jan. 24 last, less than a month prior to the slaying, read in part:

"He told me I was crazy. Said he would send me to Patton" (a State asylum near here). "He threatened to kill me. Said he would destroy my guardianship over Patrick (son by a former marriage)."

Will in Safe Deposit Box.

The document was found in Mrs. Young's safe deposit box in a bank vault. The box also contained the slain woman's will, the contents of which were made public, and a considerable number of jewels.

Investigators continued their inquiry today on an angle which entered the case yesterday, that of a young and handsome woman alleged to have aided the dentist in administering the lethal gas which, the coroner's jury declared, caused Mrs. Young's death.

One of the witnesses who appeared before the grand jury yesterday was Miss Dorothy Leopold, the dentist's office nurse and confidant who was considered by the District Attorney the most important of the witnesses.

Her first loss of composure since the investigation started last week came when she ran from the grand jury room in tears shortly after the testimony began.

"I cannot stand it in here," she cried to a bailiff. "Everybody is saying such terrible things about me." She was on the verge of a collapse.

Search for Bonds.

Edward King, investigator for the District Attorney, announced his interest in the deaths of two women, said to have been formerly associated with Young. One death, he said, was in connection with an illegal operation, in a Pennsylvania town prior to Young's first marriage in 1905. The other occurred in a Los Angeles hotel prior to the dentist's marriage to the "olive king's" widow two years ago, he said. The investigators also searched for $100,000 worth of bonds, which Young said he obtained from John Leonard, father of his former wife in Pennsylvania. The officers proceeded on the belief that the bonds belonged formerly to Mrs. Young.

By the Associated Press.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 17.—The death toll of the wreck of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western migrant train near here yesterday mounted to 42 today with more than 20 others in scattered hospitals still in a serious condition. The dead now number 21 in Easton three in Phillipsburg, eight at Hackettstown, seven at Dover and three at Morristown. The train carried 132 German-Americans, mostly from Chicago. They were bound for Hoboken, N. J., to embark on the liner Republic to visit the Fatherland from which they had emigrated years ago. Only 50 sailed on the Republic yesterday.

Speeding on a down-grade the seven-car train hit a stretch of track and debris that had been washed over the tracks by an electrical storm early yesterday. "Trips" engine plowed through, but the pony tender was thrown off the track. It clutched the frogs of a switch farther on and wrenched the engine and four steel cars from the rails. Three turned turtle. The storm pipes burst and sent scalding steam spouting directly onto the passengers in the cars.

Steam Caused 30 Deaths.

It was the breaking of the pipes that caused the deaths of 30 of the victims. Joseph Snyder, a farmer, watching the storm from his home nearby, saw the accident, sounded the alarm by telephone and with his wife went to give aid. Lyman Gulick, another farmer, rode half clad in his automobile to Hackettstown, two miles away, and called physicians and ambulances from there and other towns.

When rescuers arrived the steam had spent itself. The suffering was intense. One man picked a roll of bills from his pocket and begged Snyder to kill him. Only four trainmen and a few passengers were killed instantly. One woman was decapitated.

Two in First Car Escaped.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiffer from Iowa, riding in front of the first coach, had a remarkable escape with minor bruises. Other survivors told of a slightly scalded Chicago woman who limped moaning through the wreckage until she found her missing wallet. Then she shouted joyously and helped the rescuers.

Railroad officials attributed the disaster to the storm. By a quarter of five the train had been routed over the old main line of the road at Delaware Water Gap, Pa., instead of using the more traveled cutoff built several years ago.

The New Jersey Board of Public Utilities has sent investigators to the scene. Coroners of Phillipsburg, Hackettstown and Belvidere, N. J., have started inquiries.

The Easton Hospital, where 22 deaths have occurred, was the scene of great confusion early this morning when a special train bearing relatives of the excursionists from Chicago arrived. Hundreds of grief-stricken persons thronged to the hospital and it was necessary for the police to draw lines about the building to keep them from storming it.

The list of dead at Easton includes:

Helen Wagner, 9 years old; Frank Rendich, 50; Mary Cline, 40; Mrs. Anthony Ernst; Mrs. Lois Troike and Rudolph Troike, Cincin, Ill.; Martin Heining Sr., Martin Heining Jr., Edwin Brunner Jr., Edwin Brunner Jr., Robert Brunner, Oscar Wilgamer, Philip Schuster, Oscar Daniel, negro porter; Mrs. Otto Grunder, Nathaniel J. Bunker, Lackawanna employee, John Iron.

The dead at Dover Hospital are: George Taule, Mrs. Augustus Isenmann, Mrs. Antonio Bernhardt, Mrs. Katherine Karling.

The dead at Morristown Hospital are: Mrs. Barbara Farmer, Mrs. George Brechner.

The dead at Hackettstown include: Jacob Scanlon, trainman, Scranton, Pa.; Fred Leoma, and

BENDER SUGGESTS HAT ALDERMEN IMPEACH MAYOR

G. O. P. Committeeman
Cites Charter Provisions Which Empower Board to Take Such Action.

LETTERS MAILED TO EACH MEMBER

Opponent of Miller Intimates
He Has Arranged
With One Alderman to Institute Proceedings.

Suggestion that Mayor Miller be impeached by the Board of Aldermen is the latest shot fired by A. Samuel Bender, Fifth Ward Republican Committeeman, in his campaign against the Mayor. He mailed a lengthy letter, making this suggestion to each member of the Board last night. Today he said he had made "rather definite arrangement" to have an Alderman institute proceedings for impeachment, but declared he would not state which Alderman this is.

Bender, who is an attorney, asserted that Mayor Miller's recent efforts to cultivate the Aldermen as ward powers and his disregard of the Republican Committee, had not made much headway. He conceded that some Aldermen would uphold the Mayor.

The board's impeachment power under the 1914 charter never has been invoked. Unlike the provision for recall proceedings against the Mayor by the people, it is not necessary to wait six months after the Mayor has been in office to impeach him. Bender has talked of a recall effort.

Charter Provisions Cited. Bender's letter quotes article 7, section 4, of the charter, which provides that the Aldermen may remove the Mayor "for crime or misdemeanor in office, for grave misconduct showing unfitness for public duty, or for permanent disability, three-fourths of all the members voting for such removal." The Mayor would have opportunity to defend himself at a public hearing.

The letter also quoted the Charter clause supposedly protecting city employees against discharge for political reasons and the oath of office taken by the Mayor, that he would be influenced by no consideration of fitness in the appointment and discharge of city employees.

Bender wrote to the Aldermen that, under the Charter, "I am constrained to opine that it becomes your official and public duty to resort to your prerogative of impeachment, if you find that the Mayor is either guilty of crime or misdemeanor in office, or guilty of grave misconduct showing an unfitness for public duty."

View of Grounds for Action. "Personally," said Bender, "I am of the legal opinion that the Mayor's own admission of his refusal or failure to file a State income tax return is an offense against one of our penal statutes. His advice to others to do likewise is another violation of similar law. Grave misconduct in office, showing unfitness for public duty, has been plainly demonstrated by the Mayor's utter disregard for the rights guaranteed to all classified city employees."

As examples of the latter charge, Bender cited the Mayor's "directed or sanctioned discharge" of James H. Arnold, negro clerk in one of the Police Courts, who supported an opponent of the Mayor in the primary; Chief Clerk Panzer, Warden Hatton of the city jail, Charles Hegill, secretary of the Fire Department; Supt. Huston Morgan of the city workhouse and Master Mechanic Christ Koeln of the Fire Department, a brother of Collector Koeln, who is politically opposed to the Mayor.

"Each and every one of these discharges was actuated by political prejudice and political reasons," Bender asserted. "Each is a distinct violation of the Mayor's oath of office and of the charter provision guaranteeing classified employees protection from political caprice or fancy. The city expends countless thousands of dollars to maintain the Efficiency Board, only to see it rendered utterly helpless and impotent by the mere wave of the hand."

Conditions Called Shocking. Summing up, Bender wrote: "With conditions so shocking and with flagrant violations running rampant about the city hall, nothing short of impeachment proceedings and ultimate removal of the Mayor from office will suffice. By such action the city can be saved approximately $400,000, which would be the expense of a recall election."

The contest of Mayor Miller's election by William L. Igoe, the Democratic candidate, who was defeated by the official count, by 3129 votes, is pending, and a recount will begin July 6.

Gandhi Successor Dead

C. R. DAS.

LEADER AGAINST BRITISH DOMINATION IN INDIA DEAD

C. R. Das Also Came to Front Recently in Swarajist Movement After Retirement of Gandhi.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, June 17.—C. R. Das, who died at Darjiling, India, yesterday, had been for the past decade the strongest leader in India against British domination. However, it was not until the World War that his agitation reached the point of open hostility toward the British ruling power. During the war, although he was an avowed pacifist and nonco-operator, Das issued calls for volunteers to join him in an effort to oust the British from the more isolated parts of India but this failed apparently because of lack of funds.

He was arrested by the British in December, 1921, charged with issuing an appeal for volunteers against the Government regulations. He was sentenced in February, 1922, to serve six months imprisonment but was allowed his freedom after four months.

On his release he disagreed with Mahatma Gandhi and other nonco-operationist leaders and their movement suffered from division within its ranks. However, Das managed to be elected president of the National Congress, the body representing the Indian Nationalists.

With their support he was elected Mayor of Calcutta last year and since then had more or less relinquished leadership of the nonco-operation movement until, recently, when, because of Gandhi's retirement, Das again came to the front in the Swarajist movement.

Nurse on Train Gives Aid. To Mrs. E. B. Haaker of Park Ridge, Ill., a trained nurse, who was on the train, many owe their lives. With her first-aid kit, Mrs. Haaker set up an impromptu hospital in the observation car. Mrs. Laokin R. Deuse and Mrs. Freda Metzger of Chicago assisted her. Mrs. Haaker was traveling with her husband and a friend, Frederick Oberheld of Chicago. All three were awakened by the crash and by the screams of a trainman with scalded hands who entered the car. Still in her night clothing, Mrs. Haaker dressed the man's hands, while her husband and Oberheld hurried ahead, improvised stretchers and took many of the injured to the observation car. Shoes were torn up for use as bandages and the emergency hospital force worked for hours.

STATE TO CLOSE ITS CASE AGAINST SHEPHERD TODAY

Faiman Will Be Last Witness, Telling of Providing Typhoid Germs for a Promised $100,000.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, June 17.—Today will see the end of the State's case against William Darling Shepherd, said Joseph P. Savage, Assistant State's Attorney, morning before court of the State.

"Faiman will be our last witness very probably late today, and if the jury believes him we will obtain Shepherd's conviction," he said. "If the jury does not, then that is another story."

Charles C. Faiman, proprietor of the small National University of Sciences of Chicago, was indicted with Shepherd after he testified that for a promise of $100,000 he taught Shepherd how to kill the rich youth and supplied live typhoid germs for the deed.

McClintock Nurse Testifies. Miss Amelia Hall, a nurse, who attended young McClintock in his last illness, was the first witness today. Miss Hall testified that on her arrival at the Shepherd-McClintock home a week after the murder, she found the boy in a typhoid fever, and that he had typhoid fever, and that Shepherd told her he had given the boy a vaccine.

On cross-examination the nurse said that she had acted upon specific instructions of the doctors, she said she observed nothing unusual at the Shepherd-McClintock home and that Shepherd appeared as the usual father of an ill son would. Shepherd expressed anxiety over the boy's condition, she testified.

Miss Hall testified that Miss Isabel Foster, a nurse, who was excluded from the sick room in the final stages of the youth's illness, on orders of the doctors. The nurse admitted that in the prescribed treatment of the youth, she administered hypodermic injections, thereby accounting for three punctures in young McClintock's arm noted in the post-mortem examination Dec. 24, 1924, after the boy died.

Banker on the Stand. L. L. McArthur, assistant secretary of the Northern Trust Co., testified that Shepherd visited him during "Billy's" illness and sought an advance of money for the boy. Shepherd, McArthur said, that he could not advance money, but if the bills were sent in they would be paid by the Northern Trust, which was in the custody of the $100,000 McClintock estate.

McArthur also testified that Shepherd had told him "Billy" had at the inception of his illness feared it was typhoid. McArthur said he remained on that comment as strange.

William A. Miller, a reporter for the Chicago Tribune, testified as to an interview he had with Shepherd shortly after McClintock's death, in which the hospital was quoted as having said the youth had loved his foster parents.

That they have failed to maintain a properly organized curriculum of four years' instruction in the dispensary or hospital for instruction of students.

It is also alleged the schools have been using their charters as scientific medical institutions as a mere subterfuge for the actual benefit of a group of individuals, concerned in the private advancement, profit and gain the same may afford.

An additional charge filed against the Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery, that was not filed against the St. Louis College of Medicine and Surgery, was that the school sold degrees of Doctor of Divinity to persons who were not and never have been clergymen.

The Attorney-General contended in the suits that the abuse of charter privileges charged to the two schools were contrary to law, "affects the public interest and welfare, and is greatly harmful and injurious to the public."

Two Negroes Charged With Biederman Murder Freed. The brutal murder of Max Biederman, Franklin avenue hardware merchant, was relegated to the list of unsolved mysteries when the cases against two negroes, charged with the murder, were dismissed today.

Circuit Judge Taylor dismissed one of the cases, that of James Addison, by sustaining a demurrer which his lawyer offered after the State's case had been heard. Following this action, the Circuit Attorney's office entered a nolle prosequi in the case of the other defendant, Sam Sherman.

Biederman was beaten to death by robbers in his store, 147 Franklin, Nov. 24 last. One witness testified that he met Addison leaving the store as he entered it, just after Biederman had been assaulted. This witness admitted, on cross-examination, that he was a user of narcotic drugs.

SUITS TO OUST TWO MEDICAL SCHOOLS BROUGHT BY STATE

St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons and Kansas City Institution Are Named.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, June 17.—Attorney-General Otto late yesterday filed quo warranto proceedings in the Supreme Court, seeking to revoke the State charters of the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons and the Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery, and to oust them from operations in Missouri.

In both suits the Attorney-General charges each of the colleges with "gross perversion and misuse of charter powers and privileges," and alleges they "have been engaged in the unlawful traffic, barter and sale of diplomas and certificates of graduation, purely for monetary and mercenary consideration, and without regard to the educational and scientific qualifications or fitness of those to whom such diplomas and certificates of graduation have been issued."

The suits, filed at the request of Dr. Emmett P. North of St. Louis, president of the State Board of Health and president of the Missouri State Medical Association, grow out of recent investigation by the State Board of Health of alleged fraudulent medical diplomas presented by applicants for licenses as physicians and surgeons.

As has been told, the State Board of Health recently held hearings in St. Louis for a number of physicians who had been cited to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked, because of alleged fraud in proof they had submitted before the board.

That the colleges are violating their charter privileges, and selling diplomas to prospective applicants for licenses to practice medicine.

That the required records of the proceedings of the colleges are not being kept.

That the colleges are being maintained for private profit and purposes, contrary to their stated purposes of incorporation to educate and fit students for the practice of medicine and surgery.

That instruction is largely by students themselves, who are alleged to be incompetent to give such instruction.

That they have failed to maintain a properly organized curriculum of four years' instruction in the dispensary or hospital for instruction of students.

It is also alleged the schools have been using their charters as scientific medical institutions as a mere subterfuge for the actual benefit of a group of individuals, concerned in the private advancement, profit and gain the same may afford.

An additional charge filed against the Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery, that was not filed against the St. Louis College of Medicine and Surgery, was that the school sold degrees of Doctor of Divinity to persons who were not and never have been clergymen.

BIG GLASS WORKS GOES UNDER HAMMER

Valley Park Factory Sold to Concern That Will Scrap the Machinery.

Valley Park's one-time industrial giant, the big glass works, which has suffered from commercial vicissitudes, fire, flood and decay, today went under the auctioneer's hammer to satisfy mortgages under a foreclosure ordered by Circuit Court.

The sale was at the east front door of Clayton courthouse, under direction of a special master appointed by the court. James M. Rohan, president of the St. Louis County Land Title Co., Rohan has estimated the property to be worth $2,000,000 in the aggregate, but the factory proper went for a song to a company which plans to turn the rusty machinery into scrap.

273 Parcels in Sale. The property has been held by the Universal Glass Co., which attempted to revive the factory and the manufacturing prestige of the St. Louis River resort town. Several corporations had held it since the wheels first began to hum and the freight cars to carry quantities of plate glass away more than 20 years ago.

In the sale were 273 parcels, but it took nearly two hours, beginning at noon, to sell the first eight parcels, and the sale probably will continue tomorrow. Included were: the factory and equipment, the 40-acre factory site, 1200 town lots, a 24-room hotel which has had a vicarious existence as a resort center, a hill-top mansion which has been occupied by executives of the glass and other companies, 15 brick dwellings, 100 frame dwellings once used by the immigrant glass workmen and 200 acres of improved property and farm land.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO THE DUCHESS OF WESTMINSTER

Decree Nisi Given in London in Case in Which Wife Alleged Misconduct With Women.

SEPARATION CAME EARLY LAST YEAR

Duchess Is Daughter of Sir William Nelson and Divorced Army Officer Before Marriage to Duke.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 17.—The Duchess of Westminster, today was granted a decree nisi in her divorce suit against the Duke of Westminster. (A decree nisi is a divorce decree not to be made absolute until the court directs.)

The Duke and the Duchess decided to part in January, 1924, when it was announced that the Duke had offered his wife an annuity of $50,000 a year. To this the Duchess could not agree, and the Duke filed suit asking for her stipulated annuity of $100,000. The defendant's relations with other women were such that the plaintiff remonstrated with him at Cannes. Plaintiff warned the defendant that unless he altered his mode of life she had no alternative but to separate from him. The defendant refused to accede to the plaintiff's wishes. In respect to other women and suggested that they separate, she took up her abode at Bourdon House.

Married Five Years Ago. Starting a few months after their marriage in 1920, the Duke and the Duchess provided England with social gossip. The story went the rounds that the Duchess had boarded the Duke's yacht one night off the Riviera and had found him entertaining a famous Spanish dancer. In her rage she threw the dancer's clothes into the sea. It was reported. On another occasion the Duke locked his Duchess out of Bourdon House while she was away at a ball, and refused to permit her to get her clothes. Numerous tales of Westminster's profligacy are current in England, one of this collection being that he gave a French actress 18,000 francs as bond for her automobile so she could pass the customs officials on the Spanish border.

Several times, it is known, Queen Mary intervened in the Duke's domestic troubles, seeking to prevent a divorce case.

Her Second Divorce. Before her first marriage the Duchess was Miss Violet Mary Geraldine Nelson, daughter of Sir William Nelson, owner of the Nelson line of steamships. She was married to Lieut. George Rowley of the Household Cavalry, from whom she obtained a divorce in 1920. Her allegations in this case were of the same nature as she made against the Duke.

The Duke of Westminster is wealthy and is the owner of large estates and a great deal of property in London. He is 46 years old and fought in the Boer War and World War, receiving the Distinguished Service Order.

$80,000 LOSS RESULTS FROM TORCH EXPLOSION

Furniture Finisher Knocked Over Torch When Trying to Put Out Fire on His Sleeve.

Fire resulting from the explosion of a benzene torch caused damage estimated at $80,000 to the building and contents of the National House Furnishing Co., Nineteenth and D streets, Granite City, yesterday afternoon.

Herman Meyer, a furniture finisher, was at work on the top floor of the building, a three-story brick structure, at 2:30 p. m., applying the torch to furniture in a finishing process, when his shirt sleeve became ignited. In attempting to extinguish the flames, Meyer knocked over the torch and it exploded.

Firemen summoned from Madison and Venice, along with two Granite City companies, confined the flames to the third floor and damage resulted chiefly from water and smoke. The fire was under control within an hour. I. R. Hurwitz, manager of the concern, estimated the damage to the stock of furniture at $60,000. Elmer McCarty, owner of the building, said the building damage was $20,000. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

With the exception of Meyer, who suffered burns on the arm, no one was injured in the blaze.

mine the responsibility of all paving contractors. Learn if their work has been satisfactory in the past, as that should be some evidence of what they will do in the future. If you learn that any contractor has not fully and completely lived up to the terms of his contract, you should declare that contractor irresponsible. If you find that any contractor has adopted illegal or dishonorable methods in securing paving contracts, you should give no consideration to his bids.

"Fifth. You should by all means have honest and capable inspectors. If these inspectors report any violation on the part of a contractor in relation to contracts for paving, such contractor should be barred from ever bidding again.

"Sixth. If you are unable to get the paving of the city done for a reasonable and fair price, according to your estimate of a fair price, I suggest that you take the necessary steps for the city as a municipality to do the paving. In this connection I recall a statement I made while running for office. I said that I did not believe the city should engage in any contracting business. There were two reasons for this: (1) it might create a political machine, and (2) the work might be inefficient. However, we must protect our citizens, and if it becomes necessary for the city to do the paving to protect our citizens, then we should be prepared to do it.

"Seventh. It occurs to me that the funds collected from the gasoline tax might be used as a nucleus for the purchasing of equipment to be used by the city in laying paving.

Two Dead in War Romance.

CHICAGO, June 17.—A shattered war romance was disclosed today by the shooting last night by Mrs. Lillian Lewis of a man at first supposed to be her husband and herself. Both are dead. The man proved to be Charles A. Elgin, 33 years old, and formerly a friend of her husband, James Lewis.

After the double tragedy, a note from Mrs. Lewis to her landlady was found, offering her the couple's automobile in payment of their debt to her, and enjoining upon her to "take good care of the dog."

East St. Louis Resorts Raided.

Following the arrest of five persons by St. Clair County Deputy Sheriffs in raids on three questionable East St. Louis resorts Monday night, the East St. Louis police yesterday raided 13 alleged dives, arresting 20 persons. Seven of these were charged with keeping immoral resorts and 13 were held as inmates. The houses are in a section known as the "Valley district," on Missouri and Illinois avenues, between Second and Third streets.

WIFE CONTRADICTS MATHEWS' TESTIMONY

Denies Ordering Him Out of Home or Objecting to Alton People.

Mrs. Marie McKenna Mathews of New York, contesting the divorce suit of her husband, Harry B. Mathews Jr., vice president and general manager of the Mississippi Lime & Cement Co., Alton, testified yesterday and today before Domestic Relations Judge Percy in general denial of allegations in evidence in her husband's behalf.

Many of the questions put by her attorney were in the form of repeating items of evidence, with the inquiry, "Is that true?" Repeatedly she answered, "Absolutely incorrect," and similar contradictions.

Mrs. Mathews said she married in 1910, against the wishes of her father, the late Edward W. McKenna, who was a vice president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, and who left her a considerable inheritance, now tied up in litigation. Mathews divorced her in 1922, but she had the decree set aside on appeal.

Denies Objecting to Alton People. Instead of keeping her allowance of $150 a month from her father for herself, she used it, after marriage, to help pay hotel bills, the defendant averred. She denied her husband's charge that she objected to Alton people, saying it was he who objected. She denied his claim that she quarreled over trades people's bills, saying: "I checked the bills to please him; he was constantly snooping around the kitchen, claiming we were being short-weighted, and he wanted the house run like a business."

"I almost killed myself working around our house to keep it neat," Mrs. Mathews went on. "Even Harry complimented me on the appearance of the place."

She denied trying to force her husband out of his company, but said that after their separation in 1918 her father said to her husband, having in mind loans he made to the lime company: "If you don't appreciate what I've done for you, you'd better get out."

Instead of saying Mathews was unfit to be the father of her children, Mrs. Mathews testified, she had said that a man like him, associated with people like his associates, with such habits as he had, was not fit to be the father of children.

Locked Her Out, She Says. Contradicting her husband's story of how she ordered him out of their home when they were separated, Mrs. Mathews testified that she locked him out. She had some dental work done in St. Louis and telephoned her husband at Alton that she felt ill, asking him to call for her. He replied: "You've plenty of money, spend it. Get a good time, don't come back to Alton at all as far as I'm concerned."

She returned the next day and found their home locked. Mathews found her at a neighbor's and threw the key on the floor, remarking, "I'm going." She telephoned him at a friend's and he refused to return. She went there for him and he refused again, so she returned home and locked the door, but he came home late that night under influence of liquor.

Mrs. Mathews denied ever striking or alleging of her husband having hired detectives, except to watch assets of her father's estate and to check her stepmother's movements. Once, she said, she and her husband in Central Park, New York, after their separation, and he said: "I'll get a divorce from you if it takes 10 years and I have to spend $100,000."

Got Stock Certificate by Ruse. On cross-examination, Mrs. Mathews told how she had obtained a certificate for stock in the lime company belonging to her father from her husband by a ruse, after he threatened he would keep it, according to her. However, she said he regained it by twisting her hands. She said that she had sold some livestock they owned and devoted part of the proceeds to paying the bill for food.

Asked about an encounter with her husband in his office, Mrs. Mathews said there were no blows but a little pushing. The court room was amused when Mathews' lawyer inquired sarcastically, "Was it a dance?"

She said her husband opened a drawer and cried: "See that gun?" Stay away from me, she said. The quarrel ended with Mathews hiding under a chair, his wife asserted.

Mrs. Mathews reiterated denials of specific allegations of her husband's testimony and said: "Harry often complained I was too affectionate." She said she first took up residence in Alton 20 years ago, when she was 23, after having trouble with her stepmother. She admitted that about twice a year she had accused her husband of being unfaithful to her. Once, in 1914, she drove her car to St. Louis while he and a woman friend were in the back seat and she declared that, on looking around, she saw them in "an affectionate attitude."

The defendant denied telling Paul B. Conley, an Alton newspaper man, that there was going to be "a blow out" in the lime company, as Conley had testified. Witnesses in the completion of evidence for Mathews yesterday told circumstances of the effort to force Mathews out of the lime company.

COMPANY WOULD SHARE COST TO ELIMINATE CROSSING

Edwardsville Must Raise $5000 If Dangerous Crossing Is Bridge.

"Dead Man's Crossing," two miles west of Edwardsville, which has claimed many lives through interurban cars striking automobiles, may be eliminated if the residents of Edwardsville will subscribe $5000 to that end. This was announced at a gathering called yesterday by the Farm Bureau, to consider means of preventing future tragedies. In the latest accident, less than two weeks ago, two men from Flora, Ill., were killed.

It was announced at the meeting that the Illinois State System and the Illinois State Highway Department will divide the cost of the overhead bridge, but will not secure the right-of-way for it. The latter will require seven acres, and with the added cost of the damages to property owners, etc., the expense is estimated at $5000.

Edwardsville has no concern in the matter except that it is the nearest community. Several years ago Edwardsville residents subscribed $3000 for a right-of-way to eliminate a dangerous curve and grade from the Chicago-St. Louis highway, two miles further west than the crossing now under consideration, but as the road is a part of the State system, and in no way a local one, it is considered doubtful if residents could be interested to the proposal. An effort will be made to induce the County Board of Supervisors to act on the matter.

NEBRASKA LOSES FIRST CASE UNDER "PINT-OF-LIQUOR" LAW

Foreman Says Jury Believed Statute Was Unreasonable and Acquitted Man of Bootlegging.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., June 17.—The first criminal trial under Nebraska's new "pint of liquor" law was won by the defendant when a District Court jury yesterday freed Vasilie Toropa on charges of bootlegging.

The new law provides that possession of more than one pint of distilled liquor is prima facie evidence that the possessor is a bootlegger and carries a penalty of $100 fine and a jail sentence of 60 to 90 days in jail for the first offense.

Toropa was charged with carrying a quart and three ounces of moonshine liquor which he admitted he had purchased at a party. The jury foreman said the jury believed the law unreasonable and did not believe it to impose a "fine and jail sentence" just because he happened to be carrying liquor.

Hurt by Planer Machine.

Ralph Dietrich, 35 years old, of 209 North Eighth street, is in St. Mary's Hospital with a fractured right leg as the result of an accident yesterday in the plant of the Elliott Frog and Switch Co., 301 South Main street, where he is employed. He was working on a planer machine when a steel pulley wheel broke and a segment of the metal struck him on the leg.

WOMAN SHOTS MAN DISTURBING HER SLEEP

Mrs. Vida Jones and Companions of Wounded Man Arrested.

Incensed at five young men who, she says, kept her awake for an hour by talking in loud voices beneath her window and finally began rolling a garbage can about in front of her home at 6066A Maple avenue, Mrs. Vida Jones, a widow, fired two shots at her disturbers at 2 a. m. today.

John Minogue, 26 years old, of 5342 Page boulevard, is in St. Luke's hospital, seriously wounded, and his four companions and Mrs. Jones, who is 46, are held suspected of affray.

Mrs. Jones today was on the verge of hysterics when she told a Post-Dispatch reporter of the shooting.

"I had done a heavy washing yesterday," she said, "and I was tired out. I was awakened at 1 a. m. today by loud talking beneath my window. We live upstairs over a store and my window is close to the street. The noise was made by some men in a sadon, who laughed, talked in boisterous tones and used profanity."

"That went on for an hour. Finally one of them said: 'That's a cute garbage can,' pointing to a garbage can I had set out on the sidewalk. I think I'll take it home to my mother."

"I called to him to let the can alone and they began an argument. Finally one of them said: 'Damn you, lady, do you want me to bring the can upstairs to you?' Another suggested they kick the can over. Then one of them got out of the machine and started to pick it up."

Mrs. Jones said she asked her son, Homer, to bring her her revolver, which contained two cartridges. Homer had also been awakened by the disturbance.

"I told them to let the can alone or I'd shoot," she said. "They said I didn't dare to shoot. I fired twice, just to scare them."

One Shot Went Wild. One of the bullets went wild. The other passed transversely through the top of the sedan and struck Minogue on the left side of the face, lodging behind his left ear. His companions rushed him to St. Luke's, where they were arrested. They described themselves as Edgar McDermott, 26, of 5309 Cabanne avenue, a real estate man and owner of the automobile; Raymond Brady, 27, salesman, of 10 North Taylor avenue; Langdon Hartzog, 27, of 5867 Bartmer avenue; and Joseph V. Kelly, 24, of 1107 Etzel terrace.

To the police the men said they had stopped to go to a restaurant near the Hodiament car sheds, near Jones flat. When they returned, a garbage can was in the way of the machine and when they moved it Mrs. Jones fired, they declared.

ILLINOISAN HELD INCOMPETENT

Fred Dombeck, 53, to Appeal Verdict on Daughter's Petition.

A jury in the probate court at Belleville yesterday afternoon returned a verdict that Fred Dombeck, 53 years old, of Belleville is feeble-minded and blind and therefore incapable of attending to his financial affairs.

The petition, asking that a conservator be appointed for Dombeck, was filed by his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Engler. She set forth in the petition that her father owns property worth $1800, has $600 in cash, carries life insurance to the amount of $140 and receives $12 a month in pension from the Government as a Civil War veteran. Dombeck is making his home with a son, Anthony Dombeck. The petition asked that the Belleville Bank & Trust Co. be named conservator.

Judge Perrin has not made the appointment because attorneys for Dombeck, who contested the petition, have given notice of appeal to the Circuit Court.

RODEMICH'S MUSICAL EARNINGS UP IN COURT

Divorced Wife of Composer Seeks an Increased Allowance for Son.

Records of Gene Rodemich's musical earnings, partly derived from "records" of another sort, will be presented before Circuit Judge Mix Friday, to enable the Judge to determine whether, as his divorced wife charges, the orchestra leader and dance composer now has an income of $35,000 a year.

The court will seek to learn, at the hearing, how much Rodemich gets from the phonographic "blues," "tickle" and trot, executed by Rodemich and his half-dozen associates, who wield violin bow and xylophone, hammer, and breathe love notes through cornet and saxophone. The local manager of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. will be asked as to this part of the Rodemich income.

The auditor's department of Hotel Statler will be asked for figures showing what Rodemich receives for the services of Rodemich and one of his orchestras at the hotel. Another of his orchestras plays in the Grand Central Theater, and G. P. Skouras will be questioned as to the revenue accruing to Rodemich from its symphonies.

Whether the former Mrs. Rodemich succeeds in showing an income something more or less than $35,000, she expects to show that "Wicki Wacki Woo" and "June Comes Along With a Song," and the rest of Rodemich's musical interpretations and creations, have greatly improved his financial status since the divorce was granted 12 years ago.

Rodemich and his former wife have both married again, the former Mrs. Rodemich being now Mrs. Stella Reid. Her suit, as has been told, is for the purpose of getting a larger allowance for the support of her son, Clarence Eugene Rodemich, 16 years old.

At the time of the divorce Rodemich's finances were so modest that an allowance of $10 a month for the boy's support was accepted as the best that could be had. Later this allowance was increased to $25 a month, and more recently, instead of payments, Rodemich has paid his boy's board and tuition in Chaminade.

NEW TRIAL IS ASKED IN E. ST. LOUIS MURDER CASE

Motion for Louis Bernero, Convicted of Killing Florence Scott, to Be Heard Monday.

Attorney J. J. Bullington of Belleville yesterday afternoon filed a motion in the Belleville Circuit Court, asking a new trial in the case of Louis Bernero, of East St. Louis, found guilty last week of the murder of Miss Florence Scott.

The Scott woman was killed in Dale Stamper's roadhouse on Park drive in East St. Louis last July. Bernero did not deny shooting and fatally wounding her, but said he shot her in self-defense, after she had threatened his life and was going for a pistol.

Judge Crow will hear the motion next Monday. Bernero, who was found guilty of manslaughter, and faces a term of from one year to life imprisonment, is a brother of Claude Bernero, convicted of participation in the Dupo State Bank robbery three years ago. Claude Bernero was found guilty in the Belleville Circuit Court and is now serving a term of from 10 years to life imprisonment on a charge of robbery while armed with a deadly weapon.

MAYOR COMPLAINS POLICEMAN CALLED HIM 'FIZZLE-HEAD'

It became known today that the Police Board received a letter from Mayor Miller, last Friday, complaining that Detective Sergt. Richard H. Hatten had referred to him as a "fizzle-head."

The Mayor, in his letter, did not request that Hatten be disciplined, but suggested that the letter be taken up by the Police Board, and a more respectful attitude. The remark is said to have been made on May 19, when Sergt. Hatten was talking to the Mayor's chauffeur, Jacob Zorn, and to his clerk, Harry G. Mischel.

Sergt. Hatten, who is the son of Richard Hatten, Warden of the City Jail recently displaced by Mayor Miller, tendered his resignation to be effective last Monday, at the same meeting in which the letter was read. In an explanation to the board, Hatten said that he recalled jesting with Zorn and Mischel on May 19, but he had no recollection of calling the Mayor a "fizzle-head." Hatten, a graduate of the Benton College of Law, resigned to enter the legal department of the Laclede Gas Co.

College, St. Louis County. The mother wishes the Judge to hear about Rodemich's present earnings, and then say how much more he ought to do for the boy.

GUNMAN INVADERS OFFICE OF CHICAGO STATE'S ATTORNEY

Fires at Only Occupant, a Police Sergeant, Misses and Flees as Latter Shoots Back.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 17.—A gunman went into the office of State's Attorney Crowe in the city hall yesterday and fired a bullet which Crowe believes was intended for him. But it missed the only occupant of the office, Police Sergeant Elbridge H. Curran, and the gunman turned and fled before Curran's fire.

Search for the would-be killer extended to the tunnels that ordinarily are devoted to the transfer of merchandise underneath Chicago's "loop." Bodyguards were assigned to protect Crowe and Chief of Police Collins, and two policemen were ordered to travel with William Sweeney, policeman who killed Michael Genna, gangster, Saturday.

For a time it was thought the bullet fired at Curran was intended for Sweeney, in view of an anonymous telephone threat that he would be killed for slaying Genna, but a resemblance between Curran and the State's Attorney led authorities to believe the latter was the intended victim.

Curran said the man who fired at him resembled a man who appeared at the county building Monday evening and asked to see the State's Attorney, explaining that his brother was in trouble and intimating his relative had been seized in the roundup of more than 200 alleged gangsters.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Angelo Genna, who was killed by unknown assassins and Michael Genna, who was killed by the police, were enthusiastic opera patrons. They have entertained many Italian singers, especially Tito Schipa.

Michael was a favorite with the opera people. They remember him as modest, but affable and generous. He is the same Michael who fought off a police squad in a street battle Saturday, leaving two dead and one wounded, before he was killed.

DIVORCE FOR WIFE OF LAWRENCE O'NEIL

Decree Obtained on Charges of Desertion in Circuit Court at Clayton

Litigation between Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence O'Neil was ended yesterday by a divorce granted her by Circuit Judge McElhinney at Clayton. Mrs. O'Neil charged desertion. The suit was heard immediately after it was filed.

A suit she brought in 1922, which had been remanded for a trial before Circuit Judge Wurdeman, who had denied a decree at the original hearing, was dismissed. O'Neil resides at 51 Kingsbury place. Mrs. O'Neil was Miss Elsie O'Neil before their marriage in 1919.

Virtually all details of the settlement were stipulated by agreement. Mrs. O'Neil is to have the custody of the three children. She is to receive $1000 immediately for alimony and their support, besides a monthly payment of $250, dating from March 1. He is to pay $250 attorney fees for her.

The children—Mary Frances, 13; Jessie Bird, 11; and John Francis, 9—are to visit him every other week-end, provided he sends them to Sunday School, and from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Christmas, Thanksgiving day and Decoration day. He is to have them through the vacation month of August each year.

Mrs. O'Neil testified that O'Neil deserted her on July 27, 1921. Judge McElhinney in 1924 denied her suit asking an injunction against ousting her from the residence at 6444 Waterman avenue. In that suit she charged her husband, her father-in-law and a real estate agent with conspiracy to defraud her, in the purchase of the residence by the agent for his father, after O'Neil had defaulted, following the separation, in payments on a deed of trust. Until that decision was handed down she had kept possession through a temporary restraining order.

This is less than half of the $2000 which will be needed to pay the ice bills for the current month, and about one-eighth of the $6500 which will be the minimum required for the summer's work.

It is hoped that with the closing of school year and girl friends of the babies will come to the support of the Ice Fund with benefit entertainments and refreshment sales. They are urged not to hesitate to "do their bit" for the smallest contributions are as helpful as the larger offerings. Ten cents will provide ice for a tenement family for one day, and if every fortunate child in the city will undertake the care of one family for one day, every poor family in the city will be supplied. Show tickets and refreshment signs will be furnished without charge upon application at the Post-Dispatch. Yesterday's cash donations were: $10 from T. W. PALESTINE JEWRY SESSION
BREAKS UP OVER SUFFRAGE

Orthodox Members Oppose Plan to Let Women Vote and Vote to Hold Separate Assembly.

By the Associated Press.
JERUSALEM, June 17.—The third session of the National Assembly of Palestine Jewry split yesterday over the question of woman suffrage. The progressive elements demanded that woman be granted the right to vote and to be elected to the National Assembly, which is recognized by the Government as a body dealing with the international affairs of the Jewish Government. The demand was opposed by the orthodox Jews, who left the Assembly chamber.

Later at a meeting the seceding groups passed a resolution calling for a separate orthodox Jewish National Assembly, which will not admit women.

Chicago Man Held to Grand Jury on Charges of Embezzling From Employer.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 17.—Louis E. Bergeron, who, the police assert, masqueraded as a bookkeeper by day to cover up his thefts at night, was held to the grand jury yesterday under bonds of $18,000. He was already at liberty under bonds totaling $30,000. The charges against him are that he embezzled $9000 from Isadore Silverman, for whom he kept books; that he robbed Silverman's home and struck his employer's daughter with a candlestick, and that he rifled a safe in Silverman's office.

Bergeron is due to appear in Circuit Court Monday under the $30,000 bonds. The police records indicate that he began his double life in 1929, when he stole type-writers.

CUTS GREASE
No More Rubbing and scrubbing to get the grease off your pots and pans! Just add enough C. C. Parsons' Household Ammonia to your dish water to make it feel "slippery" and the grease disappears!
Be sure to get C. C. PARSONS' Household Ammonia. It is a hard water, will not "bite" or roughen the hands, and should be used wherever you use soap and water.

An Entire Carload of the Renowned White Mountain Refrigerators

Regular $60.00 Boxes—The Big 100-Pound Ice Capacity Beauties!

It's an ill wind that blows no good—An overproduction—A cash offer, a quick turnover and you get the Ice Box of a lifetime for a song!

The burning, shriveling heat of Summer and the damp, moist breath of Spring have as little effect on the food within a White Mountain Refrigerator as a human voice upon the elements. The clean, dry, ice-cold air is retained by the perfectly joined walls and deep dead air spaces, and is distributed quickly and evenly throughout the entire refrigerator by the infallible "Maine" aerated Duplex system.

White Mountain Refrigerators are spotlessly clean. A few brisk rubs with a damp cloth and every trace of dirt and grime vanishes like magic. You will never know how clean and snowy white your Refrigerator should be until you have seen a White Mountain.

Constant refrigeration under all conditions and a clean, sanitary interior are what you are offered in every

White Mountain Refrigerator

Part by part these Refrigerators are constructed by master workmen and are constantly inspected for the slightest imperfections. They are the most durable, the most economical, the most satisfactory and perfectly finished Refrigerators that it is possible to create.

HOLDUP MEN GET $800 FROM FAMILY IN AUTO

Two Diamond Rings Also Taken in Robbery of Man, Wife and Son.

Wolf Cutler of 1521 Union boulevard, driving west in Evans avenue at 11:30 o'clock last night, slowed down at Taylor avenue. Two youths, one of whom was armed, leaped on the running board of his machine and ordered him to stop. Cutler, his wife, Bertha, and son, Max, were compelled to get out of the machine. While one robber covered them with a revolver, the other searched them, taking $553 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $225 from Cutler, a diamond ring valued at $200 from his wife, and $10 from his son. The robbers then ran into an alley and disappeared.

Robbed of $100 Winnings in Dice Game, Man Says.

John Casey, 23 years old, of 1227 Blackstone avenue, reported he was robbed of $100 by two armed men, who stopped him as he was walking on Blackstone, near Wells avenue, about 2 a. m. today. He said $400 of the money represented his winnings in a craps game in St. Louis County last night.

Two armed men robbed August Meyer of 4152 West Pine boulevard of his Dodge sedan and $11 as he was driving in the Chain of Rocks Park at 2 a. m.

While two women engaged him in conversation, two men slugged him, after which the women searched his pockets and took $5, but overlooked $262.84. Frank Tetorokov of 40 Illinois avenue, Alton, reported to police at 8:45 p. m. Tetorokov, who is at the city hospital suffering from a fracture of the left jaw, said the robbery occurred at Thirteenth and Wash streets. A woman residing near the scene of the robbery was arrested and police report that she stated that she struck Tetorokov after an argument. She denied the robbery.

John H. Wessels of 5619 Magnolia avenue, a chauffeur for a laundry, was robbed of $60 and his Ford truck at 4 p. m. by two men who accosted him as he was making a delivery at 5524 Pershing avenue. The truck was recovered.

WOMAN'S DEATH IN LEAP FROM AUTO
TERMED ACCIDENT

Husband Says Mrs. Florence Long Jumped When He Refused to Stop for Call on Friends.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in an inquest into the death of Mrs. Florence Long of 2223A Dodge st. yesterday. Mrs. Long "leaped" a fragile skull car Sunday morning when she leaped from her husband's automobile after he had refused to take her to visit a friend because of the lateness of the hour.

Mrs. Long, who was 38 years old, and the mother of eight children ranging in age from 20 years to 6 months, told police at the Christian Hospital where she was taken, that she had opened the door of the automobile to get a cool air when she was accidentally thrown out. After her death, however, her husband, Lou, said that they had visited friends in the vicinity of Seventeenth street and Cass avenue leaving there shortly after 1 a. m.
When they reached Nineteenth and Carr streets, his wife, who, according to Long, had had a number of drinks during the evening, suggested calling on a friend living near Twenty-first and O'Fallon streets.
Upon his refusal she jumped out.
Boy, 7, Injured When He Runs Into Side of Auto.

At 7:45 p. m. yesterday, Sidney, the 7-year-old son of Mrs. Minnie Metz, of 4114 Pleasant avenue, suffered a fractured right leg and lacerations of the scalp when he ran into the side of an automobile driven by Harry Brockman, of 5574A Palm street, at the intersection of Kossuth and Pleasant avenues. According to witnesses, the boy ran out of a drug store directly into Brockman's automobile, which was moving at a moderate rate of speed.

A reckless motorist driving his automobile at a speed estimated at 50 miles an hour west in Chouteau avenue, overturned a Pevely Dairy Co.'s wagon at 12:45 a. m.
today, and continued on his way in spite of the fact that one of his tires and part of his steering wheel was knocked off. The driver of the milk wagon, Stanley Lasky, of 1813 O'Fallon street, told police that he was driving south in Com-paign avenue and was turning into Chouteau when the accident occurred. His horse was badly injured.

FOUR WOMEN PICKETS AT

CURLEE FACTORY ARRESTED

Worker Says They Called Her
"Scab" When She Refused to Strike.

Four women clothing worker strikers were arrested shortly before 8 a. m. today by Patrolman Dugan of Central District, when they are alleged to have disturbed the peace of Miss Josephine Fredalett, 4512 North Nineteenth street, an employee at the Curlee Clothing Company's factory, Twenty-first and Locust streets.

The women were pickets in front of the factory and were arrested when Miss Fredalett told police they called her a "scab," following an unsuccessful attempt to induce her to quit work. At Central District the four gave their names as Clara Mossman, 26, 1117 North Eighteenth street; Irma Harris, 19, 3501 South Twelfth street; Hazel
Ayers, 19, 6341, Audrey avenue, Wellston; and Myra Strachan, of Kirkwood. They were booked on peace disturbance charges and ordered held until bond was furnished.

Approximately 500 employees of the Curlee clothing factory several weeks ago, demanding increased wages and the right to affiliate with the Amalgamated Garment Workers of America. A number of arrests have been made, resulting from strikers' attempts to induce other employees to leave their posts.
S. H. Curlee, president of the concern, announced he would not arbitrate with the union, while the strikers have declared they will remain out "all summer," and plan further strikes at local clothing factories.

BROOKINGS, S. D., June 17.—Failure of the mid-Western and Northwestern agricultural regions to recover fully from the depression of 1920 and 1921 was traced today in an address by Frank W. Mondell, War Finance Corporation member and former Republican House leader, to the past policy of Congress in maintaining high surtax rates under peace-time conditions. He declared recovery from these slumps would continue to be slow unless tax reforms were brought about to encourage the free flow of capital into productive industry.

Protect her from door-bell swindlers

"Oh, Marion, how did you ever happen to do that?"

A glib promoter in the neighborhood had persuaded women to buy taxicabs, each paying a few hundred dollars for one. It was hard for Marion to keep cool when other women showed their "dividend" checks. So she bought a taxicab, too. The dividends, of course, were paid out of her own money. The stock salesman soon disappeared. She frankly told her husband about it when he came home.

"Don't scold her," said Fred's father. "She'll learn something from this experience—and you, too. Suppose you went away and never came back. What might happen to the money you left for your family's support? More than once I've urged you to make a will and appoint a competent trust company as executor and trustee, yet you haven't done it. Protect her from these door-bell swindlers." Nine families in ten are as dependent upon the business judgment of the breadwinner as upon his earning ability. Should anything happen to him, it would be more necessary than ever. The wife and mother, who makes the home, has a right to make certain that the family income will be safeguarded if the breadwinner is taken away.

The St. Louis Union Trust Company has the business judgment and experience of many persons instead of one. Its life is continuous, as the individual's is not. It is under state supervision, held strictly accountable for all funds and acts, and has ample resources to make good this accountability.

Our officers will be glad to explain how we can serve you in protecting your family's future. You can discuss such matters with them in entire confidence.

RICH WIDOW'S WEDDING TO MECHANIC BARED

Arrest of F. G. Ross Disclosed Marriage to Mrs. Madeline M. Peper in September.

The arrest of Franklin G. Ross, a mechanic, of 4733 Kensington avenue, on a charge of passing a worthless check for $6.10, disclosed yesterday that he was married last September to Mrs. Madeline M. Peper, wealthy widow of Adolph Peper, who died in 1911. Adolph Peper was the son of Christian Peper, millionaire owner of the Christian Peper Tobacco Co.

Ross, 33 years old, employee as a truck repair man at the Imperial Laundry, 4701 Delmar boulevard, was taken into custody at his home Monday night on an old warrant, issued in September, 1924, and was held at the Police Headquarters Monday night and most of yesterday while efforts were being made to arrange bond. He was released late in the afternoon on a bond signed by his father, Samuel Ross, a retired building contractor, of 1200 Elm avenue, Maplewood.

Wife Tells of Romance.
The marriage, Mrs. Ross told a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday, grew out of a romance. Her romance that had its beginning only a month before the wedding. Mrs. Peper, who is 40 years old, and her sister, Mrs. May Elliott, were spending the summer at a cottage in the country when she met Ross at the cottage of a neighbor.

"He was a good worker and I was lonely," she said, "and my friends all said it would be nice if we would get married, so we did and that's all there is to it."

Although the former Mrs. Peper and her 14-year-old son, Adolph Peper Jr., possess estates estimated to total about $400,000, the family resides in a modest frame cottage and the furnishings are in keeping with the surroundings.

Ross' Version of Check Deal.
The check which caused his arrest, Ross told the police, was one he had accepted last July from a tourist from Cosmo, Wash., in payment for automobile repair work and which he indorsed over to Low Brallow, a tailor of Maplewood in part payment of an account of $13. The check came back marked "no funds" and Brallow, after obtaining a warrant, took no further action until Monday. Ross said he offered to take up the check with a cash payment, but Brallow insisted on getting the cash first, while he demanded the surrender of the check first.

Woman Pastor Conducts Revival.
A revival meeting is being conducted by a woman evangelist at Trinity Tabernacle, Place boulevard and Marcus avenue. The minister is Mrs. Roxie Alford, pastor of a church in Dallas, Tex. Afternoon services are held daily except on Monday and Saturday, and evening services daily except Saturday. The revival will continue through this week. The Rev. Fred Lohmann is pastor of the tabernacle.

SHOWS DETECTIVES HIS HOME BREW

Edward Dell Admitted Making Beer for Sale to Friends, Officers Say.

If Edward Dell was perturbed by the appearance of three detectives at the front door of his home at 623 Edmund avenue, at 9 o'clock last night, he did not let that fact interfere with his innate sense of hospitality.

"Come right in, gentlemen," he said, according to Detective Sergt. Coakley, when the detective had introduced himself. "What can I do for you?" From the front door Sergt. Coakley had already got a glimpse of some huge crocks such as he, as head of the rum squad, knows are used in these days chiefly for holding beer mash.

"You can show us through the place," Coakley replied to the invitation. "We're told you're putting out home brew."

In one room of the house Coakley and his men came upon three guests of Dell. Each had before him an empty bucket, which smelled of beer. In the big crocks the detectives found 60 gallons of unash. In the cellar they found 15 cases of beer, which, they say, Dell admitted making for sale to his friends. Dell was arrested and his three visitors were advised to go home.

"Looking for Target Range," but Is Arrested.

Something in the appearance of a package carried by a man at Sixth and Market streets, at 2 p. m. yesterday, aroused the curiosity of two detectives. Examination disclosed it contained an automatic pistol and a billy, but the discovery did not disturb the composure of the bearer. "Looking for a target range," he explained blandly. "Need practice. Wonder if you gentlemen can direct me?" They directed him to the Central District holdover and will present the facts to the Circuit Attorney.

At 4:30 a. m. today policemen on the Frye Bridge stopped a man who said he was Mat Ricca, 44 years old; no home. He was carrying a loaded automatic and two extra loaded clips. He was detained pending application for a warrant.

Morphine Found at Hotel.

A man who identified himself as Lonnie Young of 3510A Greer avenue was arrested at Sixth and Market streets after detectives had found two grains of morphine in his pockets. He said he had bought it at the St. Nicholas Hotel. At the hotel the detectives arrested James Delaney, 25, and his wife Jeanette, 25, when they found six grains of morphine in their room.

The following cigar stores were raided by the gambling squad and the men in charge arrested when marked racing forms were found: 1817 1/2 Market street, Emmet Stanley in charge; 723 St. Charles street, Erwin Roberts in charge; 500 North Eighth street, Harry W. Davis in charge.

Eighty-nine arrests were made yesterday. Included in the police activities were eight saloon raids in which 11 arrests were made; three arrests on charges of carrying concealed weapons, and four arrests on Harrison anti-racket charges. Twenty-one negroes were arrested in a raid on a craps game and 18 men were booked as general suspects.

Radium Claim Staked in Canada.

TORONTO, June 17.—The discovery of radium in commercial quantities in Haliburton County, Ontario, is claimed by Charles Earle and E. W. Austin, two prospectors who have submitted samples of their find to the provincial assay offices. The official finding of the provincial mining authorities is that the samples are "distinctly radio-active." A claim of 1000 acres has been staked by the prospectors.

Warned to Capture Offenders.

By the Associated Press.

JERUSALEM, June 17.—The Palestine Government has warned the population of Hebron that they must assist in apprehending the masked persons who on Monday night fired on the residence of Gov. Abramson. The warning said that if the inhabitants of Hebron did not discover within a month the authors and of accomplices in the attempt to kill Gov. Abramson a fine of $5000 ($25,000) will be imposed upon the population.

CITIZENS HEARD ON PROPOSED NEW CITY ZONING LAW

About 50 Gather to Discuss Matter With Committee of City Plan Body Which Will Draft Act.

PROBLEM OUTLINED
BY CITY OFFICIALS

Representatives of Many Residential Districts Urge Character of Their Neighborhoods Be Preserved.

Citizens had their first opportunity last night to inform public officials, at a gathering for that purpose, of their views about the zoning ordinance which is to be enacted after the State enabling act becomes effective. About 50 men and women assembled at the Board of Public Service chambers, city hall, to discuss the matter with the Zoning Committee of the City Plan Commission, and they brought up various phases for consideration. The commission has been empowered by the Board of Aldermen to undertake preparations for the zoning ordinance, although the enabling act will not become effective until July 10, at which time the City Plan Commission will begin serving as the Zoning Commission to administer the new regulations. It will hold further hearings to determine what the zoning ordinance, which it will draft.

A. S. Langford, chairman of the Zoning Committee, presiding last night, explained the situation. Harlan Bartholomew, engineer of the City Plan Commission, related that this office was bringing data on building development up to date. In preparation for the new zoning, he said that it had kept up records even after the old zoning ordinance was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Missouri. It will study density of population, among other things, he said, but three essentials to zoning pointed out by the engineer was job, property, height, buildings and proportion of building area to lot area.

R. C. Buchanan, a resident of Southampton, told the committee that the people in his neighborhood were anxious to have it preserved for residences. He mentioned the neighborhood industrial section to the south. R. W. Maxton, 5091 Page boulevard, related that his section was confronted with the possibility of remodeling of houses to have one-story store fronts, which was objectionable to some property owners. Eighty-five per cent of the property owners in his block have agreed to restricting buildings to 20 feet behind the sidewalk line. He complained that City Hall plats do not show this restriction, however.

West Walnut Park doesn't want to be invaded by commercial establishments, said F. W. Mark of 5292 Goodfellow avenue, representing the improvement association of that section.

Plea for Higher Buildings. W. H. Gruen, an architect, speaking for the West End Business Men's Association, expressed hope that the new ordinance would permit higher buildings in the central and western parts of the city than the old one had, particularly for such important locations as the transfer points on Grand boulevard.

Harry G. Clymer, an architect, inquired what it was planned to do about establishing building lines, but did not receive a direct answer. The Real Estate Exchange favors zoning which will stabilize and preserve values, its spokesman, Walter F. Sheehan, stated. He was told, on asking, that the enabling act made no provision for compensation of property owners prevented from using their property as they desired. He inquired what would happen under the new zoning then, since the old law was knocked out because the Supreme Court said the failure to provide compensation was a vital fault.

Albert Schmidt, a former Assistant City Counselor, representing the North St. Louis Business Men's Association, who was active in seeking to uphold the old law, answered Sheehan, saying the provision for a Board of Adjustment, an appeal feature, made the new law more elastic, whereas there was no practical appeal from the old ordinance. Advocates of the enabling act declared that this adjustment provision would circumvent the objection.

Plea for Lindell Boulevard. Mrs. T. T. Cook, vice president of the Lindell Boulevard Protective Association, urged that something should be done quickly to preserve the character of Lindell boulevard. She pointed out that funeral parlors springing up there

It will hold further hearings to determine what the people want in connection with the zoning ordinance, which it will draft.

Situation is Explained.

Eighty-five per cent of the property in his block have agreed to restricting buildings to 20 feet behind the sidewalk line. He complained that City Hall plans do not show this restriction, however.

West Valley Park doesn't want to be invaded by commercial or industrial establishments, said F. W. Mark of 5202 Goodfellow avenue, representing the improvement association of that section.

Plea for Higher Buildings.

W. H. Gruen, architect speaking for the West End Business Men's Association, expressed hope that the new ordinance would permit higher buildings in the central and western parts of the city than the old one had, particularly for business buildings. He pointed out that the transfer points on Grand boulevard, Harry G. Clymer, an architect, inquired what it was planned to do about establishing building lines, but did not receive a direct answer.

The Real Estate Exchange favors zoning, provided it is a plan which will stabilize and preserve values, its spokesman, Walter F. Sheehan, stated. He was told, on asking, that the enabling act made no provision for compensation of property owners prevented from using their property as they desired. Advocates of the enabling act declared that this adjustment provision would circumvent the objection.

Plea for Lindell Boulevard.

Mrs. I. T. Cook, vice president of the Lindell Boulevard Protective Association, urged that something should be done quickly to preserve the character of Lindell boulevard. She pointed out that funeral parlors springing up there

The Missouri State Highway Commission, meeting at Hotel Jefferson, yesterday adopted a resolution rescinding the suspension of Secretary Edwin S. Austin growing out of the recent purchase of some furniture for the department from James R. Davis of Nevada, a member. The resolution, after reciting that Austin was reinstated, then concluded with his summary dismissal.

The action was taken by the body in a recess executive session, and announced by Chairman Theodore Gary upon reconvening. Former Supreme Judge Fred Williams, who appeared as "a personal friend" for the secretary, implored the commission to make known its reasons for Austin's dismissal, the circumstances of which, he said, had cast aspersions on Austin's reputation among friends throughout the state.

The request was refused and the commission proceeded to vote. On the proposition of Austin's reinstatement, the four members voted unanimously, but on the question of Austin's discharge Commissioner Davis asked to be recorded in the negative. The explanation of the reinstatement was that the commission had been advised that the road law had not been violated.

The law provides no member of the commission or employee shall be interested in any contract let by the commission, but the Attorney General has applied the law to road and bridge building contracts. The contract in question was for five desks and tables. Austin said he received bids from three other bidders and awarded it to the Davis company as the lowest bidder.

The commission decided on a location of Highway Route No. 2, between St. Louis and Kansas City, through Callaway County, as fixed yesterday, the highway will run from Williamsburg almost straight west to the Boone County line, passing about five miles to the north of Fulton, Mo. Citizens from Fulton had urged a route which would have brought the highway to about one mile of Fulton.

Gasoline Tax Fund.

A warning that the people of Missouri, who last year approved a two-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax for road maintenance, must be aroused to the necessity of keeping the fund intact, else it may be diverted for other purposes, was sounded by Chairman Gary.

The new tax went into effect Jan. 1, this year, and the revenue it is producing is exceeding expectations. While the last legislature authorized the expenditure of $4,000,000 from this anticipated tax, for the next biennial period, indications now are that at the end of the period there will be remaining $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 unexpended from this source. It was with special reference to the possible diversion of this fund, possibly to the building of additional roads or other purposes, that Chairman Gary sounded the warning.

Wants Fund Kept Intact.

"We should begin now," he said, "to impress the people of the State that all the revenue derived from the gasoline tax must go into maintenance. This revenue may reach $6,000,000 a year by 1930, but if it will be needed. Not only the secondary roads but the primary types need maintenance, if only from unavoidable accidents, and all will need it. The people must be educated to the importance of keeping this fund intact."

Previously, Chief Engineer B. H. Piepmeyer had said that while the roads were not in need for maintenance, they would not be so striking, but that already gravel type roads, in instances, showed need of repairs. Subsequently, additional gravel will have to be put on every two or three years, at a cost of from $20 to $300 a mile.

The Commission, consisting of Chairman Gary and Commissioners Murray Carleton of St. Louis, C. D. Matthews of St. Joseph, and J. R. Davis of Nevada, approved awards of contracts for the building of 58.771 miles of roads, to cost $1,554,537.71.

Of this amount the Pope Construction Co. of Jefferson City was awarded contracts for the building of 23.915 of primary, high type roads in Montgomery County, at $152,542.98, the State to furnish $168,364.79 in materials; and the J. R. Feigle Co. of Evansville, Ind.,

Every traffic law violator apprehended by the police is given a ticket requiring him to appear at the Traffic Bureau at any time within the next 24 hours for the disposition of his case, the ticket carrying the name of the violator, the date, place and character of the offense. Actual arrests are made only in cases of speeding, reckless driving, intoxication or other gross violations of traffic laws.

Upon his appearance at the Traffic Bureau the officer is given the choice of paying the amount specified in a schedule of fines for various offenses, or of accepting a notice directing him to appear in court on a certain date. If the payment is chosen, the violator signs a power of attorney directing a plea of guilty to be entered upon Court records. If his record is bad, however, the Traffic Bureau will refuse to accept his payment and insist on his appearance in court.

If the violator fails to appear at the bureau within the specified 24 hours, provision is made for the immediate issuance of a warrant for his arrest and the doubling of the scheduled payment. To avoid necessity for too frequent absences from duty, each officer has a specified weekly day in court, and all his cases going into court for one week are scheduled for the same day.

The tentative schedule of fines arranged by the Kansas City officials provides graduated penalties, ranging from $1 for first offenses, in some cases, to $10 for third offenses. For most first offenses a fine of $5 is provided, and for many third offenses there is no alternative but appearance in court.

The following were the awards for secondary roads, high type surface: De Kalb County, 9.995 miles, Metropolitan Paving Co., St. Joseph, Mo., $116,094.84, State to furnish $100,626.43 in materials; Pemiscot County, 21.609 miles, Roy L. Williams, Charleston, Mo., $469,479.86, State to furnish $210,340.40 in materials; and Ray County, 7.312 miles, Richmond Construction Co., Richmond, Mo., $49,838.74, State to furnish $47,165.09 in materials. An award for cat pavement for 3.758 miles in Vernon County was approved as let to Graham Bros. of Leeds, Mo., at $40,072.43. State to furnish $1,077.35 in materials.

PARIS, June 17.—M. Caillaux, Minister of Finance, informed the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday that he was willing to fight the financial and economic battle along the own lines. He held out the threat of an uninterrupted session of Parliament throughout the summer unless the 1925 budget was voted before the end of June and his bill for the restoration of the French Treasury, including additional taxation of 3,000,000,000 francs were passed.

The Minister told the committee he realized his new fiscal measures, if tied up with the 1925 budget, would prevent the budget from being voted before the end of June, and he, therefore, would be satisfied to have them attached to the 1925 budget, providing the 1925 budget were accepted by the allotted time.

He announced that he intended to raise 1,050,000,000 francs by increasing the taxes of farmers.

Representative Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, head of the American delegation to the conference, and Hugh Gibson, American Minister to Switzerland, were the first signers. They were followed by the British and other delegations.

Germany signed the protocol against the use of poison gas and bacteria in war, and signed another document paving the way for her subsequent adherence to a general arms limitation convention.

1,921,000 JOBLESS IN BRITAIN

Special to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago News.

LONDON, June 17.—Figures published to show the number of British unemployed recorded in the Government registers last week, the appalling amount of 1,921,000. This figure is 43,000 higher than that for the previous week, 104,000 higher than the previous fortnight and 163,000 higher than for June 1924.

Several London newspapers prominently display these statistics in one column, while on the same page long and vivid descriptions are given of the second-day Ascot festivities, where all British society, led by the King, was parading. The Daily Herald, a Labor organ, is particularly bitter, stating that "while official figures published by the Government reveal increasing and unparalleled suffering, society is playing by the thousands at Ascot, flaunting its unparalleled wealth."

Snowball Battle in Cleveland.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., June 17.—The delegation to the International Rotary convention from Denver had a snowball battle in public square here today. The next year's Rotary convention will be held in that city. The snow, which fell today, was brought here in a refrigerator car from a local hospital, where he had been under treatment, when he dropped dead. Bishop Kiley was born at Petersburg, Va.

NEWARK, N. J., June 17.—State Senator Arthur Whitney of Morris County, Anti-Saloon League and "anti-boss" candidate, won the Republican nomination for the governorship in yesterday's primary, defeating former Attorney General McCran of Paterson and former District Court Judge Doremus of Ridgewood.

The vote in 2403 of 2776 precincts was: Whitney, 123,480; McCran, 37,293; and Doremus, 46,924.

Commissioner A. Harry Moore of Jersey City became the Democratic nominee without opposition.

The Republican result brought the first defeat of an organization candidate for nomination as Governor in New Jersey's 15 years under the direct primary law.

Whitney received strong support from rural, anti-organization, dry and women voters.

The former Attorney General was regarded as the wet candidate. He had the endorsement of Senator Edge and other organization leaders. He failed to poll the heavy vote in the larger counties expected.

Running as the bone-dry candidate whose great hope was to redeem, in New Jersey at least, the young people from "the hypocrisy of the hip flask which leads to the petting party and its attendant danger," Judge Doremus, contrary to expectations, did not drive a fatal wedge into the Whitney dry vote.

DEFENSE DAY OBSERVANCES

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., June 17.—Gov. Ferguson today issued a proclamation calling upon all Texas citizens to join in fitting patriotic demonstrations on Defense Test day, July 4. She made a special appeal to women for full and complete participation.

By the Associated Press.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 17.—Gov. Henry L. Fuqua of Louisiana yesterday addressed a communication to Mayors throughout the State, asking them to "arrange for such observance of National Defense day as they saw fit."

Bishop Kiley Dies at 78.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 17.—The Rev. Benjamin J. Kiley, retired Roman Catholic bishop of Savannah, died suddenly here today. Bishop Kiley, who was 78, was preparing to take an automobile ride from a local hospital, where he had been under treatment, when he dropped dead. Bishop Kiley was born at Petersburg, Va.

Canon of Liverpool Cathedral Admits of Having But One Interest.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, June 17.—The business man who has no other interest is not the kind if man who raises the tone of business life, Canon William Thompson Elliott of Liverpool Cathedral, England, said today in an address before the Rotary International Convention.

The Rev. Mr. Elliott is president of the Rotary International Association for Great Britain and Ireland. "A moralist who is only a moralist, as if, were professionally so, having no other standard of values whatever, becomes hard and unsympathetic; there are a great many cruelties perpetrated in the name of morality by persons of this type," the Rev. Mr. Elliott said.

"So with the educationalist who has none but his professional angle of vision. It is not surprising that he sometimes teaches nonsense. But let them come into living touch with one another and their natures and outlooks are changed."

It is this thing, he declared, which Rotary has a "unique opportunity" of doing.

"By having one member from each kind of business or profession, Rotary places all legitimate ways by which a man may earn his living on an equal plane of honorableness."

LEGION'S HEADQUARTERS AT INDIANAPOLIS DEDICATED

Commander Drain Pledges Organization to Ideal of Service in His Address.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 17.—Pledging the American Legion to "carry on as those whose memory is here perpetuated whose wish us to," Col. James A. Drain, national commander of the Legion, today accepted as a gift from the people of Indiana the new national headquarters building.

Drain's address at the dedication ceremony followed a speech by Governor Jackson, who proffered the building to the veterans' organization.

"You may depend upon us of the American Legion to prove fully worthy of the favor you do us by the service we render," Drain declared. "We shall continue to serve God and country in peace as they served God and country in war—unto the death."

Continuing, the national commander said:

"In memory of our countrymen who laid down their lives that this nation might live, that civilization might go forward and that the rule of righteousness might prevail in the world, this dignified and noble memorial has been undertaken by the State of Indiana, the County of Marion and the City of Indianapolis."

Belleville Paving Approved.

The Belleville City Council has passed ordinances which call for $55,000 in street improvements. The improvements are for the paving with concrete of Roland avenue, and the paving of an alley between Pennsylvania and Virginia avenues. The next step will be the filing of an assessment roll in the St. Clair County Court. Mayor Anton states that work on the improvements will be completed this summer.

QUEEN OF BELGIANS GOES ABOUT PARIS UNRECOGNIZED

At One Time She Was Refused Admission to Concert in Grand Palais.

Special Wireless to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, June 17.—When Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians officially opened the Belgian pavilion at the Exposition of Decorative Arts last week, she had a little joke on the high French and Belgian notabilities and Ministers accompanying her by telling them she had seen it all before, having visited the building alone and in disguise.

"And no one recognized me," she exclaimed delightedly. "So even a Queen can walk about Paris without being bothered."

As a matter of fact the Queen, who is a tremendous favorite with the Parisians, attracts so little attention that the other day when she tried to get into the Grand Palais for a concert the attendants, not happening to know her, turned her away with the explanation of no more room. Without attempting to argue or revealing her identity she sat on a bench in the garden playing with children and holding them in her arms to see the official procession when it emerged after the concert.

GERMANY OPPOSES SANCTIONS

Arbitration Only Basis for Security Pact, Berlin Spokesman Says.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Publishing Association of the World and Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, June 17.—Germany will not agree to a security pact which permits sanctions, a Government spokesman here emphasized last night in answer to dispatches from Paris maintaining that France still reserves the right to march through German territory if the Versailles treaty is violated.

It is pointed out here that the only purpose of the pact is to do away with sanctions and substitute arbitration. No pact will be acceptable unless it is postulated that the difficulties may be adjusted by negotiations, not by force.

U. S. LOSES $3,000,000 SUIT

Demurrer of Builder of Camp Funston Cantomment Sustained.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., June 17.—The Government lost its suit yesterday to collect $3,000,000 alleged overcharge from the George A. Fuller Construction Co., in connection with the building of the cantonment at Camp Funston, Kan., in 1917. Judge John C. Pollock, in Federal Court, sustained the demurrer of the defense to the Government's petition and held that suit filed in 1914 had been brought to set aside the contract and not on the ground that the cost was excessive.

Judge Pollock held that as the Government had inspectors on the job at the time of the building and the contract was on a cost-plus basis, the Government could not recover by a simple suit in equity alleging that the amount paid the construction company was more than it should have been. This was the second time Judge Pollock had decided against the Government in the case. The suit originally was for $4,000,000. A motion to dismiss the petition more definite resulted in the amount being reduced to $3,000,000.

Municipal Golf.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

REFFERING to various newspaper items regarding the proposed fee for playing golf in Forest Park, the writer, on account of the nature of his work, has used various municipal links in throughout the country, and St. Louis is the only city I have found where no charge is made for playing golf on public courses. I recall 12 courses where the fee ranges from $10 to $50 per year, or from 25 cents to $1 per game, and as this money is expended for the upkeep of the courses, I find the other municipal links in far better condition than ours in St. Louis.

I am advised that approximately 10,000 people were issued permits to play golf in Forest Park last year, out of which only about 1500 contributed towards the upkeep of the links by paying $5 membership fee in the Forest Park Golf Club.
Had it not been for this club spending considerable money on the course when the city's funds ran out at this year, there would be almost impossible to use the course. It is my observation that about one-half of the people who cause the congestion on Forest Park links use the course on account of the free pastime rather than the good derived from golf.
There is no question in my mind about the justification for a $10 fee, the funds derived from that source being spent on the upkeep of the links, as in other up-to-date cities. With this heavy expense taken off the city's appropriation for recreation it would probably mean the keeping open of the playgrounds so badly needed by the little children. FORE.

"Student Revolutions."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN answer to your editorial entitled "Student Revolutions," may I remind you that you are using the same philosophy as that expounded by Metternich concerning the students of his age who were sacrificing their lives for the cause of democracy. The monarchical form of government was the only safe and sane form. It had withstood the test of ages and was championed by sage, wise, gray-bearded men against young, illuminated and untried students. But which cause was the best and who triumphed?
CHARLES ADAMS.

Expression, Not Repression, Needed.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Post-Dispatch is to be commended for its fearless editorial advocating the clear intent of the First Amendment. In these troubled times, when we must accept our sentence from Bryan, our beverages from Volstead, our patriotism from Elbert H. Gary and our local mores from the Police Board, it is a pleasure to read a paper whose editor is still old-fashioned enough to believe that the Bill of Rights means anything.

The timorous and the conservative may rest assured that if ever the advocates of violence are taken seriously the Supreme Court, Justices Holmes and Brandeis dissenting, will not be in session. The technicalities of law were indeed, on the side of the majority, but justice and common sense were on the side of the dissenting twins. Sitting on a safety valve generally damages the boiler.

A Dangerous Practice.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

BEFORE a serious accident happens,
I wish to call the public's attention to a bad habit the busses have lately of stopping in the middle of the street to unload passengers. Last night on a No.
11 at Spring and Washington the driver got the bell at the University Apartments (3705 Washington) to stop. He stopped in the middle of the street to allow two women with children to unload there. A westbound service bus, seeing the bus hog the middle of the street, and evidently not expecting it to discharge passengers, cut in toward the curb before the driver realized passengers were getting off. The quick-witted autoist piled his car up on the sidewalk while the women and children stood frozen with horror and the bus conductor gave his driver two bells and yelled "Watch yer step." This dangerous practice has been going on for some time and last night it was brought vividly to my attention how serious it was. The drivers of the 1 and 11 busses disregard entirely the curb after they pass Grand avenue. In fact, the conductors are disgruntled at making that stop. If it is difficult to negotiate, they could stop at the turn. At any rate they should eliminate the danger to passengers, which should be their first consideration, and not the wear and tear on their busses or the inconvenience caused their employees. H. FREEL.

REED IN HIS FAVORITE ROLE.

Senator Reed of Missouri can see no possible good in the World Court but he can see guarantees of disaster.

Unless it had the power to enforce its decisions
the tribunal, he says, would be a "judicial joke."
On the other hand, with the force to compel obedience to its decrees it would be "master of the world."
It would be "a judicial oligarchy, from whose decisions there is no appeal, to whose mandates all must bow upon penalty of war and slaughter."

Whether it is to be an impotent farce or a tyrannical monster Mr. Reed did not intimate in his Kansas City speech, which is described as his opening drive against our joining the court, but in either case we should have nothing to do with it.

Mr. Reed glazes of the world through a glass darkly. Never a light amid his encircling gloom. Consider these latest exhibits of his misanthropy:

International law is "but a jumble of principles extracted by writers and theorists from what they are pleased to call the consensus of the opinions of enlightened nations." Along comes war—which "abro-gates treaties, destroys customs and defies theories." Must it always be thus? Must the principles of justice and enlightened policies proposed and approved by nations in rational times of peace be mere fairweather doctrines, pleasantly acceptable in the intervals between wars, but doomed to be roughly swept aside in the exigencies and fury of war? That is Mr. Reed's grim verdict. He insists that as between nations law can never grow and develop and by the majesty of its righteousness inspire among nations the standards of honor and truth and justice which obtain among individuals under seals of law.

No international court, so international institution of any kind can function honestly, in Mr. Reed's opinion. No man can decide impartially and fairly any question of moment in which his nation is concerned.
The Judges of the World Court, chosen as they are for their outstanding character as well as for their attainments, would not act as judges. They would always be attorneys for their own nations. According to Mr. Reed, the court is not and could not be a court.
As he conceives it, it would be an unscrupulous, intriguing jury packed against the United States.
Should we join it we should be a helpless minority doomed always to get the worst of it in any litigation to which we should be a party.

There are "visionaries or 'freaks,'" as Mr. Reed terms them, who imagine that man has made some progress since "ravin' tooth and claw." Not Senator Reed of Missouri. Citing the Tennessee evolution case, he asks, "What right have ye to claim we have advanced far beyond the time when Galileo was tried for heresy?" He tells us we are "not far removed from the spirit which actuated those who scraped the flesh from the bones of Hypatia."

What a confession of despair and how demonstrably absurd it is! We have fanatics today who invoke the law to suppress any teaching or idea or practice they do not approve of. Some of them, perhaps, would rigidly torture nonconformists if they could.
But we have at least progressed beyond the stake and the fagots and dungeon foul. Again, the cruelties imposed upon heretics in other days were imposed with the intellectual approval of the times.
Our throw-backs of today, like Bryan, command a certain following, of course, but they do not command the support of modern intellect or intelligence.
What Mr. Reed considers a discouraging and astounding spectacle was sound orthodoxy and perfectly good form in the days of old. That is one item of difference between then and now, and that difference is progress.

As a matter of truth, Mr. Reed is about as much of an atavism in his specialty as Mr. Bryan is in his. As regards international relations, Mr. Reed lives, moves and has his being in a world that is gone. He thinks in terms of buried yesterdays. There is no gleam of a brighter tomorrow on his horizon, a tomorrow when men shall live by reason and nations settle their differences in accordance with justice and right.
He is the advocate of brute force and as such is one of the world's worst obstructionists.

THE ROLL OF HONOR.

It is a pleasure to note that the following distinguished pillars of our civic life have now settled their tax accounts with the City Treasurer:

City Assessor Gehner.
Police Judge Beck.
Police Judge Roscan.
Director of Public Safety Brod.
Circuit Judge Mix.
Commissioner Haley.

There are a few other pillars who owe small tax accounts, and they no doubt will soon express in cash their gratitude for living in St. Louis.

When all our city officials, including assessors and deputy assessors, have paid their taxes, it might be met to give them a public testimonial. Meantime, it is a noble sight to see those who enforce the laws making obnoxious to them.

APOLOGIES!

That gloomy bandit who ruled the upper deck of a bus for 16 blocks found only three subjects upon which to operate. These three men yielded a total of $118, or an average of $39.33 each. After waiting in vain for new victims to appear, he departed remarking that it had been a dull trip. A few hours later five young men robbed the Maryland cafeteria of $538, making over $100 apiece for their early morning work. They did not linger to express their opinion as to the size of the haul, but no doubt they, too, found it a dull experience.

We can't seem to satisfy our bandits nowadays.
Years ago, when banditry was still practiced with some professional pride, small hauls were the rule.
If a man surrendered to a footpad a gold watch and a few-dollar bill, he felt he had dealt fairly. The robber, too, was satisfied. Lately, if a man does not give up a bulging roll he feels that he hasn't been robbed at all. His assailant, spoiled darling of many a rich raid, goes away disgruntled, probably emphasizing his displeasure by rapping his victim on the conk.

Perhaps the explanation lies in increased standards of living. Old-fashioned burglars used to wear caps and shiny blue suits, live in tenements, smoke 5-cent cigars and drink 10-cent whisky. Today gentlemen of the same persuasion wear clothes which shame
the spectrum, live in neat flats, dally with Corona and imbibe Scotch and soda. Surely, they can't expect these elegant beaux to revert to the slovenly ways of their fathers. Therefore, our gifts to them should continue to rise munificently. Apologies especially to the pessimist of the bus-top!

THE GARDEN THEATER.

The new Garden Theater at Olive Street road and the Creve Coeur car line is already distinguished by the effort and inspiration which is being put into it.
In producing the Fashion Show each year Flint Garrison and Joseph Solari found themselves handicapped by the limitations of the great municipal open-air auditorium. They craved a more responsive medium through which they might exercise faculties developed by seasons of effort and experience. The Garden Theater idea was conceived and is being carried out not for profit but to continue an esthetic and dramatic effort begun in less advantageous surroundings.

The endeavor of Garrison, Solari and their associates and backers is attracting nation-wide attention. Among the admirers of the undertaking is Thomas Wood Stevens of the Chicago Art Institute, author of the St. Louis Masque and Pageant, who praised the project as a contribution of possible permanent importance in the life of the stage, which is undergoing a period of transition.

Because it is a child of the Municipal Theater, of which every St. Louisian is a shareholder, the Garden Theater has a natural claim on the interest of the St. Louis public. In the offerings of the season there will be every inducement to express appreciation.
The first attraction will be a moving drama of ancient Greece—the "Electra" of Sophocles—with Margaret Anglin in the leading role. Civilization is a fabric of nothing much but fine efforts. Certainly the Garden Theater project is one.

BRANCH BANKING AND STABILITY.

Edmund Platt, vice governor of the Federal Reserve Board, believes that larger banks, with a legally authorized branch system, would be an assurance against bank failures and the trail of ruin and personal tragedy which follows in their wake.

The comparison he made in his address before the Credit Men's Association in Washington between our system and that of Canada is impressive. Last year, due largely to hard times in the agricultural area, he says, we had 753 bank failures. In Canada, which has been as badly or worse hit by agricultural depression, but whose banks are few, with multitudinous and far-flung branches, there was not a single bank failure.

Of our banks that failed no less than 65 per cent had a capital of $25,000 or less. Only 10 per cent were capitalized at $100,000 or more. To the great number of small bank failures, each tying up a portion of the purchasing power of the country, Platt attributes the failure of business "to respond as it should have responded to the favorable influences that have been evident for the past 10 months."

While some of our bankers are appealing for more concentration Western Canadians are appealing for less. But their grievance is not with branch banking. It is with the steady movement toward the merging of big institutions until there are now left in the entire dominion only 10 banks, plus one relatively small local institution in Saskatchewan. One of the two largest of these has 923 branches. Naturally, the West is apprehensive of a concentration of the financial resources of the country in Montreal and Toronto.

Platt contends it was not the intention of the Congressmen which passed and revised the national banking act to prohibit branch banking. If that is the case why not find out the sense of Congress today?
Have not bank failures become a serious enough evil to warrant the consideration of further measures of stability? Are banking service and the financial power of the country for the bankers or for the nation?

Revelations at the city hall indicate that the tax-dodging class is not far from the pie-counter class.

THE EUGENE FIELD HOME.

At the last moment—may it not be too late—admirers of Eugene Field, St. Louis' and the world's children's poet, are taking steps to save for posterity his one-time home at 634 South Broadway. We already have a handsome Eugene Field public school, but, with the exception of the children, who ought to be his cheerful little disciples, there is no such appeal to personal memories as must always be made by a dwelling in which a poet lived, dreamed and wrote.

Let us save Eugene's old home. But how unfortunate that it is not a log cabin—merely a three-story city house of the old style, with a "stoop" inside the front entrance, not even a shady veranda, and defaced with a necessary but unpoetic fire escape. One can imagine, however, in looking at the picture of it in Tuesday's Post-Dispatch, that one can see the poet himself smiling welcome as he stands within the front entrance. And it is for that sentiment we would keep the old house standing and in repair.

Well, when other news sources fail we can always fall back on China, Mexico and Miller.

BLACKIE IS BANISHED.

Although Blackie, the White House cat, has been banished, there is glory in his banishment. There he was, the First Cat in the Land, observed of all observers. Now he is nowhere, having been reduced to sharing the bed and board of a Secret Service man.
But the chances are he will share neither the bed nor the board of his new master. In fact, that's what all the trouble is about.

When Blackie entered the White House, he swore by his whiskers that he would be democratic and act like all other cats. No superior pussy airs for him.
So he turned up his feline nose at the delicacies of the White House table. He flicked his feline tail at the warm and downy bed provided for him. It was all right to pose and strut a bit. Who would know he was the First Cat in the Land if he didn't (let the saying be excused) put on the dog?

But food and lodging are vital, primitive matters that all cats must reserve for themselves if they are to maintain the honor of the family. So at dusk Blackie was wont to slip from his gilded habitat and begin to prow in ancestral fashion. After the bor-dom of officialdom, it was delightful to Blackie's heart to prowl, yowl and frolic in the dark. Moreover, what are fowl mignon and Lobster Newburgh to a bird or a squirrel that a cat can forage for himself?
Blackie snared birds and trapped squirrels and stayed out all night—that's why he was banished.

"Be yourself," says Queen Marie. "Be yourself," echoed Blackie. So saying, he turned his back on the pomp and circumstance of the White House, preferring the simple democracy of catdom. Three cheers for Blackie!

DAVENPORT, Ia.—If going fishing is the better part of fishing, as good many experts have thought, then this greatest fishing trip in history is already a success. We have been going fishing for three days, and we are not yet there. Maybe having so much time for fishing, what we would do if we were not wise men, but fishermen, and will therefore persist until we get there. It will give us time to get out all our fishing tackle and boast about it. Probably when we reach Wabasha the guides will make us throw it all away and outfit at the local store, but nothing can deprive us of the fun we have already had, whether we ever catch a fish or not. Most members of the party have brought with them, three times as much equipment as they need, but that is why amateur fishing is a sport. Commercial fishing, which has only what it needs, is work.

The amateur golfer who carries four times as many clubs as the club professional, illustrates the point as to fishing.
He is what keeps the club up. Someone on the boat has estimated the cost of this fishing trip at $10,000. Commercially that would be likely mean bankruptcy.

The trip, however, is already such a success that the party is planning to repeat the trip next June.

Fifty fishermen on one boat is probably the world's record. We have tried to recall a time when it ever happened before, but history seems unable to match
it. No one is able to recall that Isaac Walton, in whose name the expedition was launched, ever went fishing with more than one other person. Usually he went alone.
He thought of fishing in terms of detachment and quiet, a morning in some sylvan dell, an evening where the silence was broken by nothing but the soft splash of the rising salmon. It is dollars to doughnuts that if he knew 50 men had just started out together on a fishing trip he would roll over in his grave.

The upper Mississippi has almost no boats. We have seen nothing but an occasional workboat of the United States Engineering Department, but the faith of Congress that some day there will be boats on this beautiful stream again is finely reflected everywhere in revetments, buoys, wing-dams, dayboards and lights. It is a lot of money to keep the channel open and marked for a few fish boats, but evidently Congress also dreams of the river redivivus.

Sir: What a delightful adventure in retirement in advertising has been inaugurated by prohibition. A three-quarter page picture shows a colored gentleman letting a stolen (?) chicken escape from his grasp in the act of picking up a small package labeled "Malt Extract." Not a single bit of "copy" obtrudes to jar the perfect unity of the artist's conception. Such restraint in a field noted for blatancy is worthy of remark.

By the way, I heard another recipe today.
My wife has one of these up-to-date card-index recipe files—you know, the kind you give people for Christmas. Well, she tells me that the "B" and "W" sections are so crowded that she's going to make me buy a file of my own.

HEAT HITS CABINET
KELLOGG DEFIES MEXICO
OUT OF A CLEAR SKY

Other Members Reported Suffering Washingtonians Fleeing to Mountains and Seashore Following Explosion. More Cases Expected Hourly.

There is no reason why anybody should be mystified by Secretary Kellogg's violent and unexpected outburst against Mexico, and if President Calles will read this—he should do regularly any day—he may save both countries a lot of trouble. It is simply the heat. Last week a newspaper correspondent fired an egg on the pavement at Fourteenth and Pennsylvania avenue.
That spot is just about four blocks from the State Department. Last week the heat deaths in the District of Columbia exceeded those in the entire State of Missouri.

It is not, therefore, surprising that Mr.
Kellogg should burst from his office with a yell, and brandish his fist at the Mexican. Let us, on the contrary, fall on our knees and thank God that he didn't brandish it at Great Britain, or some other country able to resist gratuitous affronts of that sort.

Something must be done about that situation. With peace or war depending upon the irritability of the Secretary of State, we cannot afford to let him remain in Washington through the dog days, with the thermometer sizzling around 106. Long ago we realized that it was unsafe for the rest of the country to let the President remain in Washington during July and August: we could never tell what he might do. He might even so far lose control of himself as to order the Sherman antitrust act enforced—remote but dread calamity of which business never loses sight. Hence the various summer White Houses.

The greatest service that some wealthy pacifist can perform is to invite Mr. Kellogg to occupy his summer home in the Adirondacks or the exclusive Arctic Circle. It's difficult enough for our wits to jell here in St. Louis. In Washington, where it is much hotter, they simply run all over the place, and such menaces to the public peace as Kellogg's Mexican statement are the consequence.

P. Y. A.

Apparently when Mayor Miller said: "I can have around me only those men who subscribe to my view," he meant his views on the payment or nonpayment of taxes, and, so far as we have been able to see,
they have been absolutely unanimous.

CALENDAR GIRL.

You are as rare as a day in June,
And as hot as a day in July;
You're as cold and clear as an August moon;

You're the freshness of May in your eye,
You're the soothing warmth of a March day flask.

And September Morn in your lace;
But there's just one thing that I'd like to ask—

Tell me, where did you get that face?

LONGEST RAILROAD

TUNNEL IS PLANNED

Bore, 30 Miles Long, Through State Divide, Is Aim of Washington.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 17.—Citizens of Washington, led by Judge Austin E. Griffiths of this city, have formed the Cascade Tunnel Association to effect, with national,
states and railroad financial aid,
the boring of a tunnel 30 miles long linking the Eastern and Western halves of their commonwealth.
This would be the longest tunnel in the world. In Colorado the Moffat tunnel, six miles long, carries the Continental Divide, to carry trains and automobiles, is more than half built. In the Alps, the Simplon tunnel, 12½ miles long, for trains only, has one portal in Switzerland and the other in Italy.
Those two countries built it.

Children's Plan.

The tunnel under the Cascade Mountains, for transcontinental railways, three of which have Puget Sound termini here, was the second great dream of Gen. H. M.
Chittenden, who came to Seattle as army district engineer and lived here until his death in 1917.

Gen. Chittenden broached the idea of a ship canal, linking Lakes Union, within Seattle, and Washington, on the city's inland margin, with Puget Sound and thus through the Strait of Juan de Fuca with the Pacific and other oceans of the world. Constructed with the aid of the United States Government, the Lake Washington Ship Canal has been in service a decade.

Griffiths Takes Us Idea.

Completion of the canal assured Chittenden brought forward the idea of the Cascade tunnel. The work of agitation, which death stayed, Judge Griffiths has taken up, announcing that to it he would devote all his spare time from the Superior Court bench.
Based on expenditures for the Connaught tunnel of the Canadian Pacific Railway, through the Hel-kirk Range in the Canadian Rockies, completed about the time of his death, the Cascade tunnel would be 30 feet wide and, at the crown of the arch, 25½ feet high.

GREATER HEALTH WORK URGED

Higher Living Standard Needed to End Tuberculosis, Experts Say.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 17.—
"Although the death rate from tuberculosis has fallen from 301 in 1900 to 94 in each 100,000 of population in 1922, due in large measure to the organized fight against tuberculosis, this disease will never be entirely eradicated until there are adequate health departments in every city, county, state, and until the standard of living for all is raised to a higher level." This opinion was expressed by Dr. Linsley R. Williams, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, at the opening session of that organization's twenty-first annual meeting here today.

Continuing his argument, Dr.
Williams said: "Such standards of living as are deemed adequate and such health measures as are proposed to be proper, cannot be carried out by individuals unless the people are sufficiently intelligent, and educational opportunities are offered so that information may be distributed to every family in the land."

BOY RESCUES SCOUT MASTER

Later Tried in Vain to Save 14-
Year-Old Lad From Drowning.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HICKMAN, Ky., June 17.—John Fields, 14-year-old son and only child of Mr. and Mrs. Curry Fields, was drowned yesterday on a Boy Scout outing, 12 miles above Hickman. The scoutmaster of Troop No. 2, W. O. Shanklin, almost was drowned in an attempt to save the boy, and was in turn rescued by a 14-year-old Boy Scout, James Hendrix.
The party of about 20 had departed early in the day for a day's outing and had crossed the river here on a ferry and driven on the Missouri side to Winchester, Chute, which empties into the Mississippi River. Shanklin had told the boys not to get into the water until he did, but three or four had gone ahead, the Fields boy going down shortly afterward. Shanklin jumped in, but was never able to get hold of the Fields lad.

at Kansas City Will Be in Charge of Course

A new school of education for the training of teachers will soon be established at St. Louis University and will be in operation at the opening of the fall term on Sept. 17. The Rev. George A. Degelman, S. J., formerly dean of Rockhurst College, at Kansas City, will be dean.

With the opening of the new school, professional training will be given to both men and women who expect to make teaching or school administration their life work. In the past, educational subjects have been included in the regular college work, but specialized training has usually been limited to members of the Jesuit order at their normal school at Florissant.

The school of education will be one of the regular divisions of the university. Tyler separate administration and curriculum; but will be closely co-ordinated with the College of Arts and Sciences so that courses offered in one school will be open for regular credit to students of the other. A four-year course will be offered, leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts in Education, Bachelor of Science in Education or Bachelor of Philosophy in Education. The training will be such as to enable graduates to obtain State teaching certificates in Missouri and Illinois without further work or credits.

Aerial Game of 'Hare and Hounds' Marks Celebration.
By the Associated Press.
MUNICH, Bavaria, June 17.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin's first airship flight is being celebrated by the Munich Association for Aerial Navigation. A balloon named for Count von Zeppelin was christened by the inventor's only daughter, Countess Hella von Brandenstein-Zeppelin, yesterday, and then was released to serve as the "hare" in a game of aerial "hare and hounds."

As the gas bag drifted south several "hound" balloons ascended in pursuit. The Munich association is keeping in touch with Illinoisans Married 50 Years.

NIGHT AND DAY CAMP FOR GIRLS INCREASES FACILITIES

More Applicants to Be Accommodated at Rest Resort on the Mississippi

Increased facilities now make it possible for many more girls to be restored to health at the Night and Day Camp, 9500 South Broadway, it was announced yesterday by the Tuberculosis Society. In previous years there has always been a longer waiting list during summer months than any other time of the year, according to Miss Ruth Hammerstein, supervisor of the social service department of the Tuberculosis Society. This year's enlargement is expected not only to take care of the present waiting list, but also to accommodate many others who might apply in the next month or so.

This camp, which is in a grove overlooking the Mississippi, is maintained by the Tuberculosis Society for self-supporting young girls and women who are in poor health or worn out physically. No one with tuberculosis or any other contagious disease is admitted. It is primarily a preventorium where girls who might be susceptible to such diseases are restored to health.

There are at present 30 girls at the camp. Fifteen were recently discharged as normal in health. The average gain in weight was between eight and ten pounds. The greatest gain in the shortest time was 24 pounds and eight ounces, which

NEWSPAPER WOMAN WILL PRESENT BEAR CUB TO ZOO

Miss Mary Powell, Managing Editor of Chinese Paper and "Mecha" Now in U. S.

Miss Mary Powell of Hannibal, Mo., managing editor of the China Weekly Review, Shanghai, arrived at Seattle, Wash., last Wednesday with a Tibetan bear cub, a fuzzy little black animal, which she announced she was going to present to the Forest Park Zoo here.

The bear, which is 4 months old, was given to Miss Powell two months ago. It is named "Mecha." Miss Powell is the sister of E. B. Powell, a Shanghai newspaper man, who was one of a group of foreigners kidnapped by Chinese bandits about two years ago.

PLANE AND RADIO USED IN RACE TO SAVE LIFE

Norman H. Emmons II, However, Dies of Pneumonia Contracted in Wilds.

Word of the death of N. Henry Emmons II, former St. Louis mining engineer, who succumbed to pneumonia May 26 after he had been carried 150 miles in a Canadian Air Force airplane from the northern mining camp where he was stricken, was received here yesterday by his cousin, Col. Robert W. Burkham, St. Louis attorney.

Emmons died in a Winnipeg hospital after radio and telegraph had been used in conjunction with the airplane in a vain effort to save his life.

Was Opening Mine.
He was stricken while in the Long Lake district, 150 miles north of Winnipeg, where he was opening a mine for Boston interests. The camp is three days by canoe from Winnipeg under most favorable conditions and it took a guide a full day to reach the nearest telegraph station. There he wired a message to Henry A. Whitworth of Boston, Emmons' associate, telling of the engineer's serious illness. Whitworth immediately got in touch with Winnipeg and the Canadian Air Force volunteered to go to the assistance of the stricken man. The mission was assigned to Flight Capt. Edwards, who set out for the camp in a driving storm, taking in his plane a physician and a few medical supplies. The flight was over wild northern country against heavy headwinds and took three hours. Capt. Edwards reported that several times he feared the storm would force him down.

Dies in Hospital.
While the flight was being made, Radio Station "KY" broadcast a message that help was on the way and it was picked up at the little settlement where Emmons was being cared for. When the airplane arrived the engineer was bundled up ready for the trip. After hasty emergency treatment he was placed in the plane. The return trip, before a heavy fall wind, was accomplished in an hour and Emmons was rushed to a hospital. He failed to rally, however, and died a short time later.

while his wife was on her way by train to Winnipeg from their home in Framingham, Mass. Emmons was 55 years old. He was born in St. Louis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Beale Emmons. He was a nephew of the late John D. Davis, vice president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. and of the late H. N. Davis, a well-known St. Louisan. He was educated at Washington University. Besides his widow, Mrs. Marion Emmons of Framingham, four daughters, two sisters and two brothers survive him.

League Employs New York City Bar Secretary to Sit in at Evolution Trial.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 17.—Charles H. Strong, secretary of the Bar Association of New York City and former United States Minister to Santo Domingo, has been added to the formidable list of those who will defend John T. Scopes, the young teacher of Dayton, Tenn., when he goes on trial July 19 for teaching evolution in violation of the laws of his State.

The Unitarian Laymen's League announced yesterday it had appointed Strong, who is president of the league, its observer at the trial. Later, the American Civil Liberties Union, which is backing the defense, announced it had accepted Strong's services and he would be associated in the defense with Clarence Darrow, Bainbridge Colby and Dudley Field Malone.

This is the first time in history, so far as is known, that an organized church body has come to the defense of a teacher of science or a believer in the results of research which are in conflict with the dogmas of Christianity.

AMERICAN RESCUE WORKERS NOT IN COMMUNITY FUND

Statements by Solicitors That Organization Is a Member Is Disputed by Catlin.

The American Rescue Workers, with headquarters at 1042 North Grand avenue, is not a member of the Community Council and the Community Fund, in spite of statements by their workers that they belong to both organizations. Mrs. E. H. Steedman, president of the Council, and Daniel K. Catlin, president of the fund, announced yesterday.

Someone who represents himself to be a commander of the American Rescue Workers called a woman yesterday, asking her to buy tickets to a benefit performance which they are giving at the Odeon Theater June 26 and 27. In answer to a query from her as to why they were not in the Community Fund, the man stated that they were members, but were given permission to have this performance as the Community Fund does not supply money for new buildings.

How a Bank Makes Money Work

MANY PEOPLE imagine a bank has magic ways of making money—almost literally coining it. Somehow they think that a hundred dollars deposited on Monday means a hundred dollars profit to the bank, even if the money is withdrawn on Friday.

Yet if they analyzed it they would realize a bank's profit is made on the money it can put to work—that is, loan at interest. Therefore that hundred dollars is not a loanable fund because it is not in the bank long enough, and the whole hundred isn't loanable if it is left in, because reserves must be deducted, as follows:

15.00 legal and cash reserve.
85.00 loanable funds.
6% on $85 for one month is 42 cents.

Thus it will be seen that a bank earns about 42 cents a month on each hundred dollars deposited, and this amount is dependent on an income of 6% from loans.

Out of this possible 42 cents the bank must pay all expenses such as salaries, rent, light, power, machinery, all building expenses, ledgers, checks and check books, statements, pass books, and all the sundries and services.

You may say: "Why, every bank must have accounts that do not average more than $100. How does it pay the expense of handling them out of the 42 cents income?" The answer is, "It doesn't." A checking account averaging under $200 is a loss to the bank that carries it.

On July First St. Louis Banks will place a service charge on small checking accounts, which will amount to $1 a month on accounts that are not self-sustaining. This is one of a series of advertisements explaining the fairness of the charge, which has been adopted by banks in 61 cities in the United States.

Is a Bad Back Wearing You Out?

Do you get up these June mornings lame, stiff, achy all over? Is every day a weary round of throbbing backache and stabbing pains? Are you so tired, nervous and dispirited it seems you just can't keep going? Then why not give some attention to your kidneys? Very often these troubles are due to faulty kidney action. Well kidneys keep the blood-stream pure. Sluggish kidneys pave the way to slow poisoning of blood and nerves. Don't let kidney trouble get a firm hold. If your kidneys are sluggish, help them with a tested stimulant diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's act on the kidneys only. They are recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say St. Louis Folks:

WILLIAM ROHDE, prop. of a fruit and produce business, 1109 Third Street, says: "My back was weak and achy and when I bent over catches took me. There were also rheumatic pains in my shoulders and limbs. My kidneys were disordered. Headaches also bothered me, but after using Doan's Pills from Miller's Drug Store I was soon fixed up in fine shape."

MRS. ONEIDA PARSONS, 1932 Gravois Ave., says: "When I suffered with kidney trouble there was a severe pain in my back. It was so bad I put a plaster on my back to try to get relief. When I stooped and then straightened, dizzy spells came over me and I could hardly see. My kidneys were surely affected for they scarcely acted at all. After using Doan's Pills, kidney trouble was entirely removed."

BOND GIVEN FOR MAN WANTED FOR HOMICIDE

Harry Wilcox Missing Since Inquest Into Death of Waitress, April 30.

Detectives seeking Harry Wilcox, chauffeur, for questioning in the death of Mrs. Anna Clark, waitress who was found fatally injured at Grand boulevard and Market street, April 25 last, learned today that his attorney, former Circuit Judge Grimm, appeared in court yesterday and had approved a $2500 bond to hold Wilcox for any charge that may be preferred.

Since the coroner's inquest, April 30, when Wilcox was ordered held in a homicide verdict, the police have been seeking to arrest the chauffeur for questioning. In addition they are anxious to let him be viewed by witnesses who saw the unconscious form of Mrs. Clark left in the street by a motorist.

Judge Grimm, in the past few days, has visited Circuit Attorney Sidener and his assistant, Roy Fish, to learn if there is an indictment or information against his client. He was told there was not. Yesterday he appeared before Circuit Judge Taylor and presented a $2500 common law bond signed by Charles Kraus, who also signed a qualification showing he is worth $150,000. Judge Taylor accepted the surety.

Wilcox was an employee of Charles Kraus of 2237 Longfellow place, but left his job when it became known the police were seeking him. Today Chief of Police Clark received a letter from Judge Grimm informing the police that Wilcox was under bond and saying he would produce him if witnesses wanted to view him. While no statement on the situation has been made by the police it is understood Wilcox will be arrested for investigation anyhow, if the detectives working on the case can find him.

"We are acting within our legal rights in presenting bond for Wilcox," Judge Grimm told a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I am willing to produce him if the police want witnesses to view him."

Reichstag Discusses Situation After Being Told There Were 160
Cases in 1924.

BERLIN, June 16.—The Reichstag in Committee discussed the other day the appalling suicide statistics of the Reichswehr. The Reichstag reported that in 1923 127 soldiers between the ages of 20 and 22 committed suicide. A representative of the Ministry of War gave the latest official figures. According to these, there were 160 cases of suicide and 27 of attempted suicide in 1924. Of the suicides one was a lieutenant, one a second lieutenant, 60 were non-commissioned officers and 98 privates. For an army of only 100,000 men these figures are abnormally high.

The mortality due to suicide in the present German army is only slightly less than the mortality due to illness, and it is relatively about twice as high as the mortality due to suicide in the German Imperial army before the world war.

No satisfactory explanation has been given as yet. It was admitted that six cases of suicide were due to ill-treatment of superiors. Apart from causes which have nothing to do with military life, many suicides in the Reichswehr are clearly due to the terribly rigorous discipline, and intensive training which the soldiers undergo, as well as to the small chances of promotion, and the long term of service, namely, 12 years.

CARDINALS HAVE GAINED 131 POINTS UNDER MANAGER HORNSBY

Team, a Bad Last May 31, Now Fifth; First Division Is Club's Next Objective

Devastating Batting Punch and Pitching Which Has Been Occasionally Brilliant, Have Enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to Climb.

By Herman Weck.
A terrific batting punch, coupled with pitching that has been good in spots, has been the main cause for the good showing of the Cardinals since Rogers Hornsby took over the management of the team on May 31. Since Hornsby took over the reins, the club has won 13 games and lost four, for a winning percentage of .765, and the Cardinals have boosted their percentage from .342 to .473, a gain of 131 points.

No club in the Heydler circuit has been able to travel at a faster pace than the Cardinals in the space of a little more than two weeks.

That the devastating punch has been in evidence is shown by the records. The Cardinals in the last 13 games have hit for an average of .336. This has enabled the team to increase its team batting figure from around .285 to better than .300. In the 13 clashes, the Cardinals made 203 hits in 604 attempts and put across a total of 112 runs.

Enemy Has Hit .262.
While the Cardinals have hit at this pace, the St. Louis pitchers have held the enemy to an average of .262, with 154 hits in 584 attempts, while the opposing runners have crossed the plate 81 times.

The figures are as follows:
AB. R. H. E. Ave.
Cardinals 112 112 203 22 336
Opponents 584 154 262

Hornsby's men outbatted the opposition in each of the four series played since he took charge. This held good even in the tilts with the Giants in which the Cardinals were able to win but one out of four. In the quartet of battles, the locals hit .351, whereas the Giants stopped at .293.

Bat .354 Against Phils.
Downing the Reds four in a row the Cardinals hit .306, while the Reds had an even .200. Facing the Dodgers it was .326 to .239, while in the five clashes with the Phils the Cardinals compiled a mark of .354 against one of .300.

Indicating that the team has really struck the batting punch which was predicted at the start of the campaign.

Since the Cardinals visited St. Louis the men of Hornsby have won eight contests and lost but one. Facing the Eastern invaders, the club has won nine battles and dropped four.

When Hornsby took hold of the team after the double defeat on Memorial day at Pittsburgh, the club was stranded in the cellar 13 games and 342 points behind the race-making Giants. Today the Cardinals are eight games and only 150 points in back of the race-makers.

First Division Next.

JOE and ASBESTOS—Another Case of Mistaken Identity

Baseball Notables Here for Jubilee Game Tomorrow

Landis, Heydler and Players of Long Ago to Take Part in Celebration.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner, and John A. Heydler, president of the National League, arrived today to take part in the Golden Jubilee celebration here tomorrow. Accompanying Heydler was George Washington Bradley of Philadelphia, who pitched a no-hit game for the St. Louis club in 1876. Bradley also held the first National League game for St. Louis, losing to Cincinnati, 2 to 1.

Bradley and Jess Haines are the only St. Louis National pitchers to ever set down the opposition without a safety. Haines turned in his effort against the Boston Braves last season.

The former St. Louis pitcher is now a member of the Philadelphia police force. Bradley was the first player signed by Judge C. Orrick Bishop, one of the organizers of the National League. Judge Bishop also will be present at the celebration tomorrow.

Veterans Will Attend.
The celebration will be the last of the eight held in the various cities of the circuit this season, to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the organization.

In addition to Commissioner Landis, President Heydler, Bradley and Judge Bishop, other veterans will take part. Included in this list are George McGinnis, Mike McDermott, Jack Gleason, Bill Gleason, Charles Koenig, Bill Joyce, Jack O'Connor, P. R. Fitzgibbon, George McCaffery, Theodore Breitenstein, Joe Quinn and Frank Decker.

Several of the old timers were well known to St. Louis fans of long ago. Koenig, under the name of Silver King, pitched for Comiskey's team, while Gleason and Jack Gleason played third base for a time.

Parade to Be a Feature.
McGinnis also was a pitcher for the Browns. McDermott was an other pitcher. Bradley played third base for Brooklyn, the Giants and Washington. Jack O'Connor was a catcher and at one time managed the Browns. Joe Quinn played second base for the old Boston club. Frank Decker was a catcher, while Breitenstein was the pitching half of the famous old pretzel battery of Breitenstein and Feltz.

While the word battle waged Ring slipped away to the dugout. Manager Fletcher stalled for time, and the McGraw spirit he argued and bluffed and threatened. He fanned the flame of discussion while, back in the dugout.

Bill Thomas Not to Lose Leg

Physicians Decide It Will Not Be Necessary to Amputate.

Amputation will not be necessary in the case of Bill Thomas, St. Louis University athlete, who is in St. John's Hospital suffering from a bone infection in his left leg. It was announced today by doctors in attendance. Thomas has been laid up for several weeks with the infection, which resulted from an injury suffered in some form of athletics.

Up to yesterday it was uncertain whether the football star would lose his leg, but a consultation resulted in a decision not to amputate.

The injury will probably put an end to Thomas' athletic career. It was said he has lost weight during his confinement and the scraping of the bone has left the leg in a weakened condition.

Thomas was a member last season of the freshman football squad at St. Louis University. He is a former Central High athletic luminary, starring at football, basketball and baseball.

ST. LOUISAN TO MANAGE PRINCETON BASEBALL TEAM NEXT SEASON

By the Associated Press. PRINCETON, N. J., June 17.—Wade T. F. Children of St. Louis will manage the Princeton varsity baseball team for the season of 1926, according to an announcement by the Athletic Association today. Montgomery B. Carroll of Quincy, Ill., and James D. Bartlett of Baltimore will be assistant variety and freshman managers respectively.

Enid Loses Franchise.
By the Associated Press. ENID, Ok., June 17.—The Enid franchise in the Southwestern League has been transferred to Shawnee, Ok., where the remaining home games of the club will be played. It was announced last night by Clyde Paine, president, following a conference with a number of Shawnee business men. Poor support of the franchise was the reason given for the move.

Hornsby Couldn't "Keep His Shirt On," Jimmy Ring Wouldn't

And so Manager Arthur Fletcher of the Phils Stopped a Left-Hand Punch With His Chin, and the Cardinal Leader Faces Suspension.

By John E. Wray,
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Keep your shirt on! It's a homely slogan, but it bats 1,000 in a pinch.

But because Rogers Hornsby couldn't keep his shirt on and because Pitcher Jimmy Ring of the Phils wouldn't keep his on, "Choke 'Em" Artie Fletcher, manager of the Phils, was bumped on the chin, while Hornsby, the bumper of said "button," is threatened with suspension.

All this, on the eve of the National League's fiftieth celebration, which may come and go without the looming personality of the Cardinals' new leader.

It was in the sixth inning yesterday that the heat began to lower. The morale of Jimmy Ring's shirt, Jimmy's lingerie was wet. Little streams of perspiration trickled down from the long sleeve ends onto the palm of his pitching hand.

The ball became wet and slimy. It just wouldn't behave, as it bent its way down the plate. Jimmy walked Hornsby and Bottomley. Schmidt fled out but the slippery ball again got away from Ring. Plack walked, and Ring paused and looked longingly at "Choke 'Em" Artie Fletcher, a graduate of the John McGraw School for the Herding of Ballplayers' Goats.

No Time to Change.
Jimmy just couldn't keep his shirt on. He wanted to change it. It embarrassed his pitching. But it didn't embarrass Umpire P. R. Fitzgibbon. He said that there was no time to change. Jimmy's shirt was so wet that it was no time to keep his shirt on. As Art Fletcher stuck out his chin, and napped and napped to the discussion, Mr. Hornsby, who was in the middle of an inning—and an enemy rally.

Then out sailed "Choke 'Em" Arthur arguing with the umpire that Ring be permitted to take his shirt off. In came Hornsby exhorting the umpire to make Ring keep his shirt on.

TUNNEY RECEIVED ONLY 1679 CONGRATULATORY MESSAGES ON VICTORY

By the Associated Press. ST. LOUIS, June 17.—Some idea of the interest in the recent Tunney-Gibbons bout may be had from the fact that Tunney received 1679 letters and telegrams of good wishes or congratulations. Most of them came from World War veterans who knew him when he was a marine.

One letter which Tunney cherishes highly came from Capt. B. Barthe, who commanded Gen. C. G. Company at the fort. "It looks like the marines have the situation well in hand," wrote Capt. Barthe. "Dempsey is next. We know you will beat him, too."

MANION

St. Louisans Tied Eddie Held Sh Over Kansas

James C. Ward, Kansas City's Strongest Two Strokes Over Leaders—vail and 80 Will Be No

By a Special Correspondent of LAKEWOOD GOLF CLUB, KANSAS

James Manion of Riverview, and Bill Louisiana, were tied for the lead among State championship golf tournament here, lead temporarily with a 71, but Medar, later, tied that figure. Par for the course

Eddie Held of Algonquin Club of St. Louis, was one stroke over Manion and Medar, with a 72, and James Ward, Kansas City's hope, came in with a 73.

Manion's card:
Out 453 434 354-35
In 424 334 345-36-71
Held's card:
Out 365 432 545-38
In 434 525 445-34-72

Walter Murray, Forest Park golfer of St. Louis, outdid his fellow-townsmen, Eddie Held, yesterday, by establishing a new course record of 67—five strokes under par. Monday Held established a new mark of 69. Every shot of the Forest Park golfer was straight, his judgment of distance was unusually good, his approach shots bordered on the uncanny, and his putts were like a chalk line to the cup.

His card, compared to par, follows:
Par out 453 534 544-36
Murray out 334 425 453-33
Par in 534 354 444-36-72
Murray in 334 344 444-34-67

It is expected that an 80 will be fortunate to find its way into the championship bracket. With the fairways at Lakewood equal to the heat in the State and the greens in fine condition, everything is encouraging to the lowest possible scores.

Team Competition.
There will be two individual groups in the team play competition today—those competing for the Milburn cup, awarded to four-man teams, and those entered in the Hugh E. Brann cup for two-man teams. The members of the four-man teams must be named prior to starting at the tee, but the two-man teams may be selected from members of the four-man teams after the qualifying round has been completed.

LOUIS MONTEDONICO SOUTHERN MEDALIST

By the Associated Press. ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 17.—With a birdie three on the eighteenth hole, Louis Montedonico, Memphis, scored 72 and won the medalist honors in the Southern Golf tournament here yesterday. Montedonico, one of the last to finish, had a par four to tie his fellow townsman, Chastain Harris, and a birdie three to win. He placed his approach within four feet of the cup and ran the putt down to lead the big field. Fred Lamprecht, New Orleans, and Allan Brown, Clarksville, Tenn., had 74 each.

The Colonial Country Club, Memphis, won the team trophy for aggregate score with 308, followed by the Atlanta Athletic Club with 314. Memphis Country Club and Audubon Club, New Orleans, were tied for third with 316.

MANION AND MEDART LOW IN STATE GOLF QUALIFYING PLAY

St. Louisans Tied With 71; Eddie Held Shoots a 72 Over Kansas City Course

James C. Ward, Kansas City's Strongest Bidder for Title, Is Two Strokes Over Leaders—Good Scores Prevail and 80 Will Be Necessary to Qualify.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LAKEWOOD GOLF CLUB, KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 17.—James Manion of Riverview, and Bill Medart of Sunset, two St. Louisans, were tied for the lead among the early qualifiers in the state championship golf tournament here today. Manion held the lead temporarily with a 71, but Medart, coming in a half hour later, tied that figure. Par for the course is 72.

Eddie Held of Algonquin Club of St. Louis, who one stroke over Manion and Medart, with a 72, and James Ward, Kansas City's hope, came in with a 73.

Manion's card:
Out 453 434 354—35
In 424 354 545—36—71

Held's card:
Out 465 433 545—38
In 434 525 445—34—72

Walter Murray, Forest Park golfer of St. Louis, outdid his fellow-townsmen, Eddie Held, yesterday, by establishing a new course record of 67—five strokes under par. Monday Held established a new mark of 69. Every shot of the Forest Park golfer was straight; his judgment of distance was unusually good, his approach shots bordered on the uncanny, and his putts were like a chalk line to the cup.

His card, compared to par, follows:
Par out 413 534 544—36
Murray out 338 425 435—33
Par in 534 554 444—36—72
Murray in 334 545 444—34—67

It is expected that an 80 will be fortunate to find its way into the championship bracket. With the fairways at Lakewood equal to the best in the State and the greens in fine condition, everything is encouraging to the lowest possible scores.

Team Competition.
There will be two individual groups in the team play competition today—those competing for the Milburn cup, awarded to four-men teams, and those entered in the Hugh E. Brann cup event for two-men teams. The members of the four-men teams must be named prior to starting at the tee, but the two-men teams may be selected from members of the four-men teams after the qualifying round has been completed.

LOUIS MONTEDONICO SOUTHERN MEDALIST
By the Associated Press.
ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 17.—With a birdie three on the eighteenth hole, Louis Montedonico, Memphis, scored 72 and won the medalist honors in the Southern Golf Tournament here yesterday.

Montedonico, one of the best to finish, had a par four to tie his fellow townsman, Clouston Harris and a birdie three to win. He played his approach within four feet of the cup and ran the putt down to lead the big field. Fred Lamprecht, New Orleans, and Allan Brown, Clarksville, Tenn., had 74 each.

The Colonial Country Club, Memphis, won the team trophy for low aggregate score with 208, followed by the Atlanta Athletic Club with 211. Memphis Country Club and Audubon Club, New Orleans, were tied for third with 216.

The 18-Hole Gamble.

WHEN the St. Louis District Golf Association holds its winter meeting to formulate plans for the 1924 season it probably will be suggested that the qualifying round of the annual championship be increased to 36 holes. It also is probable that the association will be asked to vote on a proposition to change the method of awarding tournaments.

Lawson Watts of the Country Club is one of those favoring a 36-hole round.

"A few years ago," Watts said, "you could pick in advance the field that would qualify for the championship. But so many young players of ability have been developed recently, the 18-hole qualifying round has become too much of a gamble."

Young players of great match play ability and even some of the veteran stars may be kept out of match play by a bad hole or two in an 18-hole round. For instance, Jimmy Manion would have qualified in the National Amateur at the Country Club in 1921 if the qualifying round had been at 18 holes.

But he followed up a poor first round with a brilliant second and qualified.

"Chris Kenney had a misfortune or two in his qualifying round at North Hills and after going out in 39, came back in 48 and did qualify. There were several golfers who shot 81, but failed to qualify who would have liked the chance to shoot another 18 holes. I think the 18-hole match is too short and certainly the qualifying round should be increased to 36 holes."

Crack This One.
In a tournament at Memphis recently a golfer, playing a match, made a poor shot for a green. He threw down another ball and shot again, just for the practice, just to see if he could make the shot without making the same mistake he made in his first shot. He picked up the second ball and continued with his first ball. His opponent charged that the rules of golf had been violated.

There was a rush for the rule book. It was pointed out that practice over a course on qualifying day was against the rule until the qualifying round had been played. But this was a match. No specific rule could be found. It was put up to the Rules Committee. They pondered and searched and then decided that the golfer's action had been unethical and decided that he had lost the hole.

It was a fair decision. There is nothing in the rule book that says you can't walk across the path of your opponent's ball just as he is about to putt. But

My plan is to make the clubs in the district hold the tournament in rotation," said Chris Kenney, vice president of the District Association. "There are unpleasant features connected with holding a tournament, but after these have been reduced to a minimum, it will be up to the clubs to hold the tournament in turn or drop out of the association."

Hennessey, Although Defeated, Better Than Casey, Critic Writes

Strong Recovery in the Face of Defeat in British Tournament Match Impresses Observers—Casey Easily Wins From Former Davis Cup Star.

By Herbert L. Bourke, Widely Known British Tennis Authority.

LONDON, June 17.—My first impression of the young Americans—Ray Casey of San Francisco and John Hennessey of Indianapolis, on the opening day of the match between the United States and Great Britain at Eastbourne are somewhat unusual.

Whereas Casey beat J. B. Wheatley and Hennessey lost to J. G. Gilbert, making matters all square, I nurse the opinion that Hennessey is destined to be the greater player. And yet to see Hennessey fizzle in the first two sets with Gilbert was a painful experience.

Remarkable Recovery.
When he recovered, however, too late as it happened, his game was one of the most delightful I have ever seen. It struck me that I feel his way and play himself in at leisure. This might have been due to overconfidence in regard to the ultimate result. If so he reckoned without Gilbert's great experience.

Casey Never in Danger.
Ray Casey had Wheatley at his mercy from start to finish. He played sound tennis and showed flashes of brilliancy to win by a score of 6-0, 6-1, 6-3.

Speed was Casey's strongest asset and frequently scored by clean strokes against the man who at one time played for England on the Davis cup team.

The Britisher was in his best stroke and won the first two sets, 6-2, 6-3, and finally led at 5-0 in of the club holding the event, while visitors, at $2 a week, are having a big golf holiday. That probably will be changed. It does not take a golfer a week to learn enough about the course to play it. One round or two will familiarize the players with the course and it is not necessary to bar club members from their own course for a week.

Bill Tilden Will Compete in U.S. Clay Court Event

Champion to Defend Singles Title and Will Play in the Doubles.

By Davison Obeor.

William T. Tilden II of Philadelphia, considered the world's greatest tennis player, has sent in his entry for the fifteenth annual National Clay Court championship to be held on the Triple A courts during the week of July 11. He will defend his title as singles champion and will also compete in the doubles.

The entry of Tilden's was received in a telegram to Roland M. Hoerr, chairman of the Tournament Committee. Tilden entered the doubles event with his youthful protegee, Sandy Wiener.

In the clay court event here last season Tilden won the singles title by defeating Harvey Snodgrass of Los Angeles in the final round. The Californian was eliminated easily by Tilden. The score of the contest was 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

Tilden and Wiener reached the final round of the doubles. They were defeated by the Kinsey brothers of California. In order to reach the final Tilden and Wiener were forced to defeat several good teams. They won from Wray Brown and Karl Kammann in what was considered the feature match of the doubles event. The local pair forced the visitors to 15-13 score.

Later in the tournament Tilden and Wiener surprised by defeating Brian Norton and Clarence J. Griffin. The victory in this contest brought them to the final round.

Since 1918 Tilden has won four clay court tournaments. He was defeated by William M. Johnston in the 1915 event. The champion took permanent possession of the singles cup in 1923 and has one leg on the new trophy.

Kinseys Will Compete.
The entry of Robert and Howard Kinsey of California was received recently, so that the champions of both the singles and doubles will be here to defend the titles. Tilden is the present holder of the national grass court singles and the Kinseys are the national doubles title holders, so that St. Louis will entertain the top ranking stars of the United States in both events.

Chairman Hoerr also announced that the entry of Alfred H. Chapin, Jr. of Springfield, Mass., had been received. Chapin participated in the tournament here last year and made a very favorable impression. He will also play in the doubles.

Chapin has not named his partner. With George Lott Jr. of Chicago and Brian I. C. Norton of this city also entered the committee is assured of four of the first 10 players in the United States singles ranking for 1924 as well as the No. 1 doubles team.

BLASTS IN BUILDING
SEWER SHOOK HOUSE

Property Owner Obtains Judgment for $310 Against Construction Company.

One day last summer Mr. and Mrs. Oliver K. Leiber were having dinner in their brick bungalow at 2000 Nebraska avenue and the house shook so violently that the coffee pot was upset. So were the Leibers, but only figuratively. That was but the Leiber's first upset. Others followed, by day, by night. Before long the Leiber's went to sleep hoping they would wake in the morning, but not being at all sure of it. For the house kept shaking. Which is the reason Leiber brought suit against the United Construction Co. and yesterday Justice of the Peace Moore heard the case.

It was some time last summer the construction company began building a sewer under Nebraska avenue, and in the course of the work blasting was necessary. And everytime there was a blast, Leiber's home reacted with a shake. And the shakes did the house no good.

Plastering Badly Cracked. According to the plaintiff's story it was necessary that he have his house plastered. "There were cracks so big in all the rooms," he testified, "that I could put my finger in some of them. It ruined the wall paper. The plaster cracked in all the rooms but the kitchen. I don't know if it cracked in the kitchen or not. In the kitchen was a hole in the wall and water was pouring on the basement floor. The water was making the noise. Then there was a crack in a wall that let rain water in. The pavement got cracked."

"And when I took the storm door off the front vestibule, the rain would come in through a crack between the porch and the basement and get the basement wet."

"What's that got to do with the construction company?" asked the construction company's attorney.

Crack in Wall, Also. "I said," said Leiber, "that when I took off the storm door the water came in. I put the storm door on in winter and take it off in summer."

"Well," asked the defendant's lawyer, "are you suing the construction company for putting on the storm door or taking it off?" Leiber told him.

A builder, a paper hanger, and a heat plant repairer testified and said Leiber was right.

So Judge Moore gave Leiber a judgment for $310.80. But he wouldn't allow Leiber the $103.50 he asked for plastering. "Because," said the Judge, "they all say it was only a temporary plastering job and they all say all of the old plaster should be torn down and new plaster put in its place, and I can't see why a man should have a job only half done when he knows it should be fully done. I know I wouldn't."

Women Students on Tour. Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, June 17.—A whole section is devoted exclusively to women on the Cunarder Berengaria, which sails today. The women will be students and graduates of colleges from all over the country, and number upward of 400. Every tourist third cabin is filled with women. An orchestra accompanying the tourists comes from Goucher College at Baltimore. Music will be furnished three times a day until the Berengaria reaches Cherbourg. The orchestra will then go to Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Venice and London.

1000 State Troops Under Gov. Jackson Were Routed by Union Forces Near Boonville.

By the Associated Press. COLUMBIA, Mo., June 17.—Sixty-four years ago today the first battle of the Civil War to be fought on Missouri soil occurred on the hills around Boonville, says a historical report issued by Floyd C. Shoemaker of the State Historical Society of Missouri. Insignificant from the standpoint of troops engaged and casualties, it takes its place among the important battles of the war because of the hard blow to the position of Gov. Jackson and his State troops, showing them, according to the records, the folly of relying upon courage and enthusiasm alone when pitted against well-armed and disciplined troops. It secured for the Federals the control of the Missouri River, thereby cutting in half the potential strength of the State cause.

The Battle of Elliott's Springs, so-called for its location on the Battle of Boonville Races because of the character of the State advance and retreat, was a small affair. One thousand State recruits met a like number of Union soldiers, mostly "St. Louis Dutch." The superior training of the Government's men, under Gen. Lyon, won an easy victory over Gov. Jackson's volunteers, commanded by Col. John S. Marmaduke. The battle began at 8 o'clock in the morning and at noon the State forces were in a retreat termed by an eyewitness as "a helter-skelter affair." Three men, said the records, had advised retreat before the battle, but the enthusiastic recruits were eager for the fray. After the battle Gov. Jackson fled by horse to Salline County, then south to the Osage. National flags soon supplanted the Southern banners in the surrendered town of Boonville.

The converging of Federal troops on Gen. Price's headquarters forced the State troops southward and within two weeks Central and Northern Missouri were in Federal hands.

National troops, said the records, entered the State capital on June 15, 1861. Many persons rejoiced none opposed. According to the newspapers of those days, the Federals made themselves at home and enjoyed the short time they spent in Jefferson City before leaving for Boonville. One reporter says "after imbibing too freely in groceries, many became unruly." Another account relates that the convicts in the penitentiary across but seeing 300 Federal soldiers at the prison gates, gave a "Hurrah for Abraham Lincoln."

THE PASSING SHOW.
OUR Mr. K. sat down and wrote.
To Mexico a little note,
Not calculated to promote Much neighborly affection.
The President of Mexico
Told Mr. K. where he could go

He'd point out the direction.

Whereat the Dove of Peace was
To mutter, "Well, upon my word!
Was ever such a discourse heard
In circles diplomatic?

But, soon again those diplomats
Begin to oiling up their gats,
And peace goes democratic."

I see our wild life devotees
Are strolling northward by de-

While wild life they're promot-

And some who do not care a speck
For fish will let 'em go to heck
And stick right to the poker deck
While down the river floating.

TOO TRUE.
Speaking of robins, that story

AMUND
ENATOR LA FOLLE
DIES IN WASHING FROM HEART A

Wisconsin Leader Succumbs After Several Weeks' Illness Beginning
With Cold and Bronchial Asthma.

AS 70 SUNDAY;
DIED DURING NIGHT

Life and Children Were at Bedside — He Long Had Been a Victim of Angina Pectoris.

The Associated Press, June 18.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, for many years a stormy pet of American politics, died at home here today.

Death resulted at 1:21 p. m., from a heart disease, induced by a long breakdown and an attack of bronchial asthma.

The Wisconsin Senator and later independent presidential candidate was failing in health even before the 1924 campaign. Several weeks he contracted a severe cold which developed into asthma.

After daylight today,
his heart, which had been unable to stand the strain, gave way.
The night, and he sank rapidly after daylight today.

Though they realized the seriousness of Senator La Follette's condition, members of the family hoped until today that he would recover. Last night his physicians said he was resting, but nevertheless he took a quick and sudden turn for the worse in the last hours and hope was abandoned.

Senator La Follette long was a victim of angina pectoris, a heart disease, and this, with his athletic attack, caused him to suffer from shortness of breath, coughing spells accompanied his illness.

Most to the last, however, he clung to cheerful reports being sent out as to his illness and it was not until yesterday that it was admitted that his condition was serious.

After all the storms of his long career he passed away very quietly, surrounded by members of his family. He was conscious almost until the end, but for several hours he was unable to speak only in murmurs to those about him.

Before the end he mustard his waning strength in an effort to murmur a last word at the bedside. Then he fell into unconsciousness and died without evidence of pain, and almost immediately from his death.

Senator La Follette and his two daughters were close to him in the sickroom throughout the morning and night. It was the present plan to take the body to Madison for burial.

Funeral arrangements also call for the funeral services to be held in Madison instead of at Washington. If these are carried through, the funeral party will leave here tomorrow afternoon, arriving at Madison Saturday.

Was 70 Years Old Sunday.
Senator La Follette was 70 years old Sunday and had been greatly weakened by a battle of several years against a cold which ran into bronchial influenza and occasioned much difficulty in breathing.

Earlier in the week he showed signs of improvement, and though he again developed symptoms yesterday, he was able during the day to get up and last night both his daughters and those of his family were at his bedside declared that he was ever hopeful of recovery.

While touring in Europe,
Senator La Follette was confined to bed for a long time with a touch of influenza.
